Theory and Society having been founded by Alvin W. Gouldner is a forum for an emerging worldwide community of social theorists. Its pages are open to all those working in the advancing edges of social theory: critical theory, phenomenological sociology, the neo-Marxisms, comparative, historical and macroscopic sociology, structuralism and linguistically sensitive sociology.

Committed to preventing their mutual isolation, Theory and Society endeavours to promote clear discourse and pointed dialogue among them. This editorial view based itself on the critique of the traditional history and logic of science – a critique associated with Lakatos, Kuhn and Feyerabend, who stress the importance of comparing divergent programs.
