The Henry L. and Grace Doherty Charitable Foundation, Inc. offers a limited number of fellowships for advanced study in Latin America in the fields of social science during an academic year. The grants are made to graduate students and postdoctoral scholars who can supply sufficient evidence of training and preparation in Latin American studies. Fellowship holders are expected to spend twelve months in travel and in residence in the country in which research is to be conducted. Cost of round-trip travel for the grantee and family members and allowance for living expenses, varying with the grantee's family status and the country to which he is going, are provided by the fellowships. Applications and supporting documents must be submitted not later than February 1, 1969, on blanks obtainable from the Doherty Fellowship Committee, Program of Latin American Studies, 240 East Pyne, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Fletcher School Offers Latin American Teaching Fellowships

Established in 1966, the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy program of Latin American Teaching Fellowships continues for 1969–70. Eligibility requirements are that applicants must have completed at least two years of graduate study at a North American university and must be able to demonstrate teaching capabilities in their field of concentration. Writing and speaking fluency in the language of the country to which they are assigned is required. Financial stipends include full travel expenses to and from Latin America, a basic fellowship grant of approximately $300 per month and an academic salary of $150–$250 per month from the Latin American institution to which the fellow is assigned, a dependents' allowance if needed, and medical and accident insurance. The fellowships in most cases will be offered for a 12–15 month period, beginning in the fall 1969. Each fellow, while in Latin America, works under the supervision of a professor and in most cases functions as a teaching assistant; opportunities for private research will be available to the fellow. Applications for the 1969–70 period should be received by March 30, 1969; application forms and further information may be requested from Gary
