Theological Science

Thomas F. Torrance

In the nine years since this book was first published it has established itself as a classic account of the processes of scientific activity in theology, which reveals theology as seeking to lay bare and test the logical basis of the knowledge of God in close dialogue with natural science, and with philosophy in all its forms. The book is now being issued in paperback in response to continuing demand and in honour of the recent award to Professor Torrance of the annual Templeton Foundation Prize for Progress in Religion. Paper covers £2.95 Galaxy Books

Space, Time and Incarnation

Thomas F. Torrance

When the Nicene Creed affirms that the eternal Son of God 'for us men and for our salvation came down from heaven', it asserts that God himself is actively present within the space and time of our world. This book – now made available in paper covers – is concerned with the place of spatial and temporal ingredients in basic theological concepts that this implies. Paper covers £1.50 Galaxy Books

Anselm and Talking about God

G. R. Evans

This study examines the development of Anselm's thought treatise by treatise in the light of his early interest in the problems of language and epistemology which arise when we attempt to talk or write about God. £8.50

Preaching in the Spanish Golden Age

A Study of some Preachers
in the Reign of Philip III

Hilary Dansey Smith

Sermons are a useful barometer of a society, and can tell us about many more aspects than the purely spiritual. This survey of preaching during the reign of Philip III (1598–1621) is an attempt to assess the importance of sermons as a crystallization of pre-occupations current in a period as complex as the Spanish Golden Age. £8 Oxford Modern Languages and Literature Monographs

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions and books for review should be sent to the Editor, Professor H. D. Lewis, King's College, Strand, London, WC2R 2LS. Books published in America should be sent to Professor J. E. Smith, Department of Philosophy, Yale University, New Haven.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributors of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviewers will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage, but it would normally be simpler just to retain a copy.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
