

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

STEPHEN P. MUMME, Associate Professor of Political Science at Colorado State University, coauthored Statecraft, Domestic Politics, and Foreign Policy Making: The El Chamizal Dispute. His current research focuses on environmental policy development in Latin America and the Third World.

C. RICHARD BATH is Professor of Political Science at the University of Texas at El Paso. His research centers on U.S.–Mexican relations and environmental affairs. He coedited Air Pollution along the United States–Mexico Border.

VALERIE J. ASSETTO, Assistant Professor of Political Science at Colorado State University, specializes in international political economy. The author of The Soviet Bloc in the IMF and IBRD, she is studying the dynamics of innovation in international organizations.

HERBERT S. KLEIN, Professor of Latin American History at Columbia University, works extensively on Bolivia, comparative American social history, and the economy and society of colonial Spanish America. He is preparing a social history of Brazil since 1945.

JACQUES A. BARBIER is Professor of History at the University of Ottawa. He wrote Reform and Politics in Bourbon Chile and coedited with Allen J. Kuethe The North American Role in the Spanish Imperial Economy, 1760–1819.

BROOKE LARSON, Assistant Professor of History at SUNY, Stony Brook, will soon publish Colonialism and Agrarian Transformation in Bolivia: Cochabamba, 1550–1900. She also coedited Participación indígena en los mercados andinos.

STEVEN PALMER, a Ph.D. candidate in history at Columbia University, is writing his dissertation on different forms of nationalism in the Central American states as they relate to the development of ideological movements in the region.

RICHARD JACKSON, Professor of Spanish at Carleton University in Ottawa, wrote The Black Image in Latin American Literature, Black Writers in Latin America, The Afro-Spanish American Author, and Black Literature and Humanism in Latin America.

SEN-GEN ZHANG, Associate Professor at the Institute of Latin American Studies of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, was a visiting scholar at the UCLA Latin American Center in 1985–86.

NING-KUN WANG, Research Assistant at the Institute of Latin American Studies of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, received an M.A. in Latin American Studies from UCLA, where she is studying sociology.

PAUL SUTTON is a lecturer in Politics and Director of the Centre of Developing Area Studies at the University of Hull. He has coauthored and edited several books on Caribbean themes, most recently Dual Legacies in the Contemporary Caribbean: Continuing Aspects of British and French Dominion.

RICHARD J. WALTER, Professor of History at Washington University, has written several books and articles on twentieth-century Argentine political history. His most recent monograph is The Province of Buenos Aires and Argentine Politics, 1912–1943.

MATTHEW EDEL is Professor of Urban Studies at Queens College and Senior Research Associate at the Bildner Center for Western Hemisphere Studies, Graduate School and University Center of CUNY.

STEVEN TOPIK, Associate Professor of History at the University of California, Irvine, wrote The Political Economy of the Brazilian State, 1889–1930. He is working on a comparison of the economic roles of Brazil and Mexico between 1888 and 1910.

JORGE I. DOMINGUEZ, Professor of Government at Harvard University, is a former president of LASA. His many works include Cuba: Order and Revolution. He is preparing a book on Cuban foreign policy.

ROSE J. SPALDING, Associate Professor of Political Science at DePaul University, has published articles on Mexican agriculture and recently edited The Political Economy of Revolutionary Nicaragua.

VIVIANE BRACHET MARQUEZ, Professor-Investigator at the Center for Sociological Studies at El Colegio de México, is president of the Asociación Mexicana para el Estudio de la Administración Pública. Her focus of study is social policies, particularly health policies.

MICHAEL DODSON, Associate Professor of Political Science at Texas Christian University, has published articles on religion and social change in Latin America. He was a senior Fulbright lecturer in Britain and a fellow of the Calvin Center for Christian Scholarship, where he co-wrote a book on the Central American crisis.

JORGE DUANY, Assistant Director of the Center for Latin American Studies at the University of Florida, has written articles on Afro-Cuban religion, popular music in Puerto Rico, and Caribbean ethnicity. He is preparing a comparative study of Cuban and Dominican migration to Puerto Rico.

ANA PERCHES taught Latin American literature at New Mexico State University for three years and is now teaching at California State University, Hayward.

CYNTHIA RAMSEY, Assistant Professor of Spanish at Louisiana State University, specializes in Hispanic cinema, the work of Buñuel, New Latin American Cinema, Chicano cinema, and second-language methodology.