

P02-307 - SOMATOFORM DISORDERS PROBLEM IN SOMATIC HEALTH CARE SYSTEM IN UKRAINE

E. Kudinova

Kharkiv Medical Academy of Postgraduate Education, Kharkiv, Ukraine

At the present stage of a society development in Ukraine among based medical care problems the special priority has been provided the problem of somatoform vegetative disorders. A prevalence somatization clinical disturbances at patients with frustration various nosologic accessories and necessity of development of clinical criteria of differential diagnostics with somatic diseases were the precondition for studying this area. On the basis of complex study 727 patients of city polyclinic and hospital are conducted determination of structure and prevalence of somatoform disorders in ambulatory-polyclinic practice in the conditions of industrial center. Clinic-epidemiological and clinic-statistical research allowed to define the structure of somatoform disorders in ambulatory-polyclinic practice. Organ neuroses with cardiorespiratory functional violations make 10%, organ neuroses with functional violations of gastrointestinal system 5,7%, organ neuroses with functional violations of the urinal system 12,2%. Set personality psychological, social-psychological and social constituents of somatoform disorders. On that ground has been developed complex level differentiated system of medical- psychological and psychotherapy correction of somatoform disorders with the 75% higt efficacy.