The Alchemy of Race and Rights

Patricia J. Williams

"Patricia Williams unfolds her analysis of racism and law in the United States through experiential accounts so pellucid and vivid, by turns so inevitable and so surprising, that you are deep in rich literary allusions and complex social insights, sophisticated legal theories and sharp case discussions, before you know what hit you...She accomplishes the near impossible: simultaneous depth and engagement in law and world."

CRIMINOLOGY AS PEACEMAKING

Edited by Harold E. Pepinsky and Richard Quinney

"An exceedingly important collection. The quality of the writing and the selection of materials is outstanding and will mark a new beginning for a generation of forward-looking criminologists."

—William J. Chambliss

Traditionally, "the criminal element" is the enemy, and criminology a military science. These essays propose peacemaking as an effective alternative to the "war" on crime. They range from studies of the intellectual roots of the peacemaking tradition to concrete examples of peacemaking in the community. cloth $39.95 • paper $17.50

THE GEOMETRY OF VIOLENCE AND DEMOCRACY

By Harold E. Pepinsky

A revolutionary approach to criminology that integrates it into the larger field of peace studies. Pepinsky concludes that crime and punishment are synonymous forms of a larger violence, which rises and falls as systems of power are concentrated and dissipated. The only path away from crime and violence is democratic interaction, the antithesis of violence. Pepinsky applies his theory to questions of how to make policing effective and how to raise children to lead a society toward peace and away from crime. cloth $24.95

LEGAL THEORY, POLITICAL THEORY, AND DECONSTRUCTION

Against Rhadamanthus

By Matthew H. Kramer

"The book evidences a vast and deep knowledge of many diverse intellectual traditions . . . breathtaking in its scope." —Robin West

Kramer provides a deconstructionist reading of four major jurisprudential traditions: analytical Marxism, liberal legalism, a conservative view of the nature of law, and the critical legal studies movement itself.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS FOR 1992 STUDENT AWARDS

The Law and Society Association is seeking nominations for its Student Awards, which will be presented at the Association's Annual Meeting in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in May 1992. Awards will be offered to those whose nominated paper best represents outstanding law and society research in each of three categories: undergraduate papers; graduate/law student papers -- not dissertation chapter; and graduate student papers - - dissertation chapter. The awards are $100 cash and travel subsidy up to $400 for expenses to attend the annual meeting. Nominations can be made only by a non-student member of the Law and Society Association and through the submission of the recommended student paper to the Committee on Student Awards.

The subject matter and methodology of recommended papers should be in the interdisciplinary tradition of law and society research, and should reflect the style and articles that appear in the Law & Society Review. All papers entered in the competition should be written by matriculated students at any (U.S. or non-U.S.) institution of higher education between September 1990 and January 1992. Submissions will be evaluated within each category.

Send 6 copies of the recommended student paper before January 26, 1992 to:

The first volume in The Yale Contemporary Law Series—a new series designed to present contemporary and controversial legal subjects to lawyers, students, and the general public

Interpreting the Constitution

The Supreme Court and the Process of Adjudication

Harry H. Wellington

A prominent legal scholar takes a frank and provocative look at how the U.S. Supreme Court works as a dynamic and responsive key to our enduring democracy, in particular showing how it has addressed one of the most controversial political and judicial issues of our time—abortion.

“Here is a constitutional-law lesson as accessible as any now on the bookshelves....Wellington grapples with many of the issues that arouse controversy in Congress and in the streets.”
—Herbert Mitgang, The New York Times

“A thoroughly engaging book.”—Gerhard Casper $22.50

Affirmative Action and Justice

A Philosophical and Constitutional Inquiry

Michel Rosenfeld

A comprehensive discussion of both the interpretive and critical issues central to the constitutionality of affirmative action programs. Rosenfeld elaborates a new theory that strongly defends the justice of affirmative action from the standpoint of both philosophy and constitutional law. “A major work.”—David A.J. Richards $30.00

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR 1992 J. WILLARD HURST PRIZE

The Hurst Prize Committee of the Law and Society Association seeks nominations and suggestions for works appropriate for the 1992 prize. The Hurst prize is given for the best work in American legal history published between January 1990 and December 1991. In the spirit of Willard Hurst's own work, the field of legal history is broadly defined to include the history of interrelationships between law and social, economic, and political change; the history of functions and impact of legal agencies, legislative and administrative as well as judicial; and the history of the legal profession. Although the prize is for American legal history, significant comparative work that sheds light on American history will also be considered. The submission of purely doctrinal studies of the evolution of appellate case law is, however, discouraged. Preference in making the award will normally be given to books; but articles and monographs of exceptional quality will also be considered. Nominations should be received by December 1st, 1991.

The committee to select the 1992 recipient of the award is Hendrik Hartog [chair], Michael Grossberg, Case Western University; and Mary Dudziak, University of Iowa.

Recommendations and/or books suggested for the committee's consideration should be sent to:

Hendrik Hartog, Hurst Prize Committee Chair
University of Wisconsin
School of Law
Madison, WI 53706

The award will be presented at the 1992 Annual Meeting of the Association in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Let's Make a Deal

Understanding the Negotiation Process in Ordinary Litigation

Herbert M. Kritzer

Has "Equal justice under the law" given way to "Let's make a deal"? Nearly 90% of American civil cases are settled out of court. Analyzing findings from the Civil Litigation Research Project, begun in 1979 and sponsored by the U.S. Department of Justice, Herbert M. Kritzer examines the economics of bargaining, for both lawyers and their clients, and the extent to which litigation is governed by monetary concerns. His brilliant insights into the divergent interests of attorneys and clients go far toward assessing many of the standard economic theories of litigation and bargaining.

Law and the Shaping of Public Education, 1785–1954

David Tyack, Thomas James, & Aaron Benavot

"The authors explore the relationship between law and public education from several nontraditional perspectives. They employ case studies, such as the compulsory public education system in Oregon in 1922, and a quantitative analysis of appellate decisions in public education. Overall, they pursue two themes: the use of constitutional and statutory law to build standardized state school systems, and the tension of majority rule and minority rights in education law."—Harvard Law Review

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR 1992 HARRY KALVEN PRIZE

The Harry Kalven Prize is awarded by the Law and Society Association for "empirical scholarship that has contributed most effectively to the advancement of research in law and society." It is not a book prize, but is given in recognition of a body of scholarly work. Neither is it a "career achievement" award, however, and at least some portion of the work for which the award is given should have been completed within the past few years.

The committee to select the 1992 recipient of the award is June Starr [chair] State University of New York, Stony Brook; John Hagan, University of Toronto; and Stewart Macaulay, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Nominations of candidates or suggestions for the committee's consideration should be sent to:

June Starr
Kalven Prize Committee Chair
69 Park Boulevard
Palo Alto, CA 94306

Documentation concerning the significance and contributions of the research, including citations to publications, will assist the committee in its consideration of candidates. Nominations should be received by December 1st, 1991. The award will be presented at the 1992 Annual Meeting of the Association in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
