THE LIGHT OF ASIA;

Or, The Great Renunciation.

Being the Life and Teaching of Gautama, Prince of India and Founder of Buddhism.

TOLD IN VERSE BY AN INDIAN BUDDHIST.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

In the following poem I have sought, by the medium of an imaginary Buddhist votary, to depict the life and character and indicate the philosophy of that noble hero and reformer, Prince Gautama of India, the founder of Buddhism.

A generation ago little or nothing was known in Europe of this great faith of Asia, which had, nevertheless, existed during twenty-four centuries, and at this day surpasses, in the number of its followers and the area of its prevalence, any other form of creed. Four hundred and seventy millions of our race live and die in the tenets of Gautama; and the spiritual dominions of this ancient teacher extend, at the present time, from Nepaul and Ceylon, over the whole Eastern Peninsula to China, Japan, Thibet, Central Asia, Siberia, and even Swedish-Lapland. India itself might fairly be included in this magnificent empire of belief, for, though the profession of Buddhism has for the most part passed away from the land of its birth, the mark of Gautama's sublime teaching is stamped ineffaceably upon modern Brahmanism, and the most characteristic habits and convictions of the Hindus are clearly due to the benign influence of Buddha's precepts. More than a third of mankind, therefore, owe their moral and religious ideas to this illustrious prince, whose personality, though imperfectly revealed in the existing sources of information, cannot but appear the highest, gentlest, holiest, and most beneficent, with one exception, in the history of thought. Discordant in frequent particulars and sorely overlaid by corruptions, inventions, and misconceptions, the Buddhistical books yet agree in the one point of recording nothing—no single act or word—which mars the perfect purity and tenderness of this Indian teacher, who united the truest princely qualities with the intellect of a sage and the passionate devotion of a martyr. Even M. Barthélemy St. Hilaire, totally misjudging, as he does, many points of Buddhism, is well cited by Professor Max Müller as saying of Prince Siddārtha, "Sa vie n'a point de tache. Son constant héroïsme égale sa conviction; et si la théorie qu'il préconise est fautive, les exemples personnels qu'il donne sont irréprochables. Il est le modèle achevé de toutes les vertus qu'il prêché; et son abnégation, sa charité, son inaltérable douceur ne se démentent point un seul instant. . . . Il prépare silencieusement sa doctrine par six années de retraite et de méditation; il la propage par la seule puissance de la parole et de la persuasion pendant plus d'un demi-siècle, et quand il meurt entre les bras de ses disciples c'est avec la sérénité d'un sage qui à pratiqué le bien toute sa vie, et qui est assuré d'avoir trouvé le vrai." To Gautama has consequently been given this stupendous conquest of humanity; and—though he discountenanced ritual, and declared himself, even when on the threshold of Nirvana, to be only what all other men might become—the love and gratitude of Asia, disobeying his mandate, have given him fervent worship. Forests of flowers are daily laid upon his stainless shrines, and countless millions of lips daily repeat the formula, "I take refuge in Buddha."

PROBLEMS OF LIFE AND MIND.

By GEORGE HENRY LEWES.

*Third Series.PROBLEM THE FIRST—THE STUDY OF PSYCHOLOGY:

ITS OBJECT, SCOPE, AND METHOD.

Contents.

CHAP.

- I. The Object—The Relation of Psychology to Physiology—Body and Mind—Function and Faculty—Mechanism and Experience.
- II. The Motive.
- III. The Position of the Science—Objective and Subjective Laws—Views of Comte, Mill, and Spencer.
- IV. The Social Factor.
- V. Subjective Analysis and the Introspective Method.

CHAP.

- VI. Limitations of the Introspective Method.
- VII. The Freedom of the Will.
- VIII. Objective Analysis—Animal Psychology—Differences of Animal and Human—The Moral Sense—History.
- IX. The General Mind.
- X. The Mental Forms.
- XI. Analysis and Synthesis.

"The notice prefixed to the present first instalment of Mr. Lewes's papers says briefly that this 'problem is published separately in obedience to an implied wish of the Author . . . and with no other alteration than such as it is felt certain that he would have sanctioned.' We can have no doubt as to what hand it is that is concealed beneath this reserved, yet significant, intimation of editorial care. Purposely veiled and retiring as it is, this notice assures us that the further volume promised for the autumn will have the superintendence of the one mind which combines capacity to range over the field of speculation with loving sympathy and intimate knowledge of the inmost thoughts of the author. Under these circumstances, natural piety inclines us to wish that what is presented to the reader may be found not unworthy of Mr. Lewes's philosophical reputation. The examination we have been able to make leads us to believe that the present volume, though only a thin book of less than two hundred pages, will be found even more widely interesting than any part of the series which has yet appeared."—Saturday Review.

A CLASSICAL

DICTIONARY OF HINDU MYTHOLOGY & RELIGION, GEOGRAPHY, HISTORY, AND LITERATURE.

By JOHN DOWSON, M.R.A.S.,

Late Professor of Hindustani, Staff College.

"By Mr. John Dowson, a sound and accurate scholar."—Athenæum.

"Whatever conclusion may be come to as to the proper scope of this work, there can be no doubt that Professor Dowson has rendered an immense service to students, and his dictionary will be an indispensable companion to all students of Indian matters. Students of Sanskrit at the present day are, by such books as this, placed in a very advantageous position compared with that which their teachers occupied some thirty years ago, when all such aids were wanting."—Academy.

FACTS & FALLACIES OF MODERN PROTECTION.

By BERNHARD KINGROSE WISE, B.A., Scholar of Queen's College, Oxford.

"I cannot allow the present occasion to pass without saying that it is with very great pleasure I have read a work written by a young Oxford man, who got the prize given by the Cobden Club at the University of Oxford for the best essay on the subject of protection. That essay is entitled 'Facts and Fallacies of Modern Protection,' and was by Mr. Bernhard Kingrose Wise. I recommend it to the perusal of anyone interested in the subject, because it contains a most carefully elaborated argument regarding the effect of protection upon the wages of labour."—Lord NORTHBROOK, at the Dinner of the Cobden Club, Greenwich, June 21.

Post 8vo, pp. vii.-390, cloth, price 5s.

THE LETTERS OF PLINY THE YOUNGER.

Translated by J. D. LEWIS, M.A., Trinity College, Cambridge.

Whilst Germany can boast of at least four scholar-like translations of Pliny's Letters, England has never had a real translation in our present sense, only the spirited "renderings" of Lord Orrery and Melmoth of more than a century ago.

Two Volumes, crown 8vo, pp. lxxviii.-429, lviii.-416, cloth, price 21s.

ARTISTS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY AND THEIR WORKS.A Handbook, containing Two Thousand and Fifty Biographical Sketches.

By CLARA ERSKINE CLEMENT and LAURENCE HUTTON.

"Nothing is much more difficult to obtain than trustworthy and satisfactory accounts of contemporaries, the sources from whence information can be drawn being, for the most part, scattered in journals and reviews, where it is extremely troublesome to find them when wanted. It is with a feeling of somewhat selfish satisfaction, therefore, that we receive this capital modern dictionary, into which has been condensed a vast amount of information that might be sought for long, and often, indeed, altogether in vain, elsewhere."—Academy.

"This handbook appears to have been edited with intelligence and care. Such biographical facts as could be elicited with regard to living artists are briefly stated, and opinions of their works, adverse as well as favourable, are quoted at some length."—Fall Mall Gazette.

"The work as it now stands is a most valuable companion to the handbooks already known to the public—Cunningham's, Redgrave's, Bryan's, and others."—The Week.

Fifth Edition, with a New Preface and Steel Engraving, crown 8vo, pp. xiv.-132, cloth, 2s. 6d.

SAPPHO:

A Tragedy in Five Acts.

By STELLA,

Author of "Records of the Heart," "The King's Stratagem," &c.

"It presents us with a vivid picture of the violet-crowned Lesbian."—Daily Telegraph.

"The play is full of fire and force, and is thoroughly readable."—Graphic.

"A composition of marvellous power and energy, reminding us of Talfourd's Ion, and not unfrequently of Shakespeare himself."—Liverpool Mercury.

Part I., 8vo, pp. civ.-128, paper, price 7s. 6d.

THE SHROPSHIRE WORD-BOOK.A Glossary of Archaic and Provincial Words, &c., used in the County.

By GEORGINA F. JACKSON.

"This glossary will take a high rank in dialect literature; indeed, no English book of the kind is more thorough. The short sentences with which she illustrates the meanings of her words are not only good as specimens of dialect, but are, in many cases, amusing and instructive, from the light they cast upon the life and thoughts of the people. 'I see thee's a balk in a fild o' corn down by Steppiton. I dunno know who it belongs to, but it's no good sign anyways; there'll be djeth i' the 'ouse afore arroost (harvest),' is not only a good sample of Shropshire talk, but illustrates a superstition which, we believe, extends, in some form or other, round the entire globe. In the valleys of the Trent and the Ouse, when the potatoes come up 'odding,' it is a sign that there will be a death in the house of the farmer. In the Netherlands, in the neighbourhood of Haarlem, we have been told that recently, when a gardener died, it was observed by his friends that his first crop of onions had not come up that year. When a young student remarked that a similar superstition prevailed among the Malays, and that the cause might be bad seed or grubs, the observation was received not as an explanation of a phenomenon, which, indeed, wanted none, but as an evidence that the speaker had imbibed those 'infidel opinions' now so rife in universities."—Athenæum.

THE ÆNEID OF VIRGIL.

Translated into English.

By JOHN D. LONG, Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts.

"It is my endeavour towards making a loyal translation of the Æneid into living English blank verse: it is my mite of tribute to the old studies paid after drifting far from the academic inspiration and shelter. The most faithful translation is of course the best, and in mine I have tried—not hesitating now and then at an anachronistic rendering—to bring out in to-day's phrase, as far as I could, the force of all the Latin words."
—EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

"This volume completes the publication of all the communications, and all the testimony of witnesses, which accompanied the Report of the United States Monetary Commission. The publication has been delayed for various and unavoidable reasons, and the Secretary has been directed to collect such facts as have become known since the report was made, which throw light upon the extent of the new demands for gold, and especially upon the fact and extent of a supposed increased tendency of gold to be drawn from other parts of the world into Europe by the higher value which it has recently acquired there in relation to silver, and to the general range of commodities."—EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

THIS INVALUABLE REMEDY produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium.

Diseases in which it is found eminently useful—Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Colics, Coughs; Asthma, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Whooping Cough, Cramp, Hysteria, &c.

EXTRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.

From A. MONTGOMERY, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay.

"Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after 18 months severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed."

Mrs. FORBES, Wife of the Chaplain at Paris.

"I cannot speak too highly of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne: I have not in any single instance been disappointed with the result, even in aggravated cases of Indian Cholera."

Extract from Medical Times, January 12, 1866.

"Chlorodyne is prescribed by scores of orthodox medical practitioners. Of course it would not thus be singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"

Extract from the GENERAL BOARD OF HEALTH, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.

"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases."

CAUTION.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT,

LAMPLOUGH'S PYRETIC SALINE.

"IT CURES SEA-SICKNESS, OR THE WORST FORMS OF BILIOUS OR NERVOUS HEADACHE IN A FEW MINUTES."

Important to all, more especially English Ministers, British Consuls, and Europeans seeking to reside in safety in Tropical and Foreign Climates.

Her Majesty's Representative, the Governor of Sierra Leone, in a letter of request for an additional supply of the PYRETIC SALINE, says—"It is of GREAT VALUE, and I shall rejoice to hear it is in the hands of all Europeans visiting the Tropics."

Is found pre-eminently beneficial in preventing and curing EPIDEMIC SMALL-POX and FEVERS, by Purifying, Invigorating, and Vitalizing the blood. Any person who has already this complaint should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features. (See the new directions for use.)

It vitalizes and supplies the blood with those saline principles that are lost, altered, or destroyed during hot weather.

In Scarlet, Yellow, Typhus, Jungle, and Eruptive Fevers (or Cholera), also in several other conditions, where the vital current is poisoned by infection, and thereby rendered unfit to support health and life, it has been found eminently beneficial, and its sustaining and purifying influence acts as a preventive to disease, as the numerous unsolicited testimonials accompanying each bottle will prove.

SICKNESS, HEADACHE, and NAUSEA, are in most cases immediately relieved by taking a teaspoonful in a tumbler of cold water. This can be repeated once or twice in two hours, if needful.

SEA VOYAGES.—It is a very valuable accompaniment, and should on no account be omitted. It instantly allays the sickness.

SPECIAL AGENTS FOR LAMPLOUGH'S PYRETIC SALINE:—Simmonds, St. Thomas, West Indies; Treacher & Co., Bombay; Scott, Thompson & Co., Calcutta; Oakes & Co., Madras; Llewellyn, Shanghai. May be obtained of the Proprietor,

H. LAMPLOUGH, CONSULTING CHEMIST,

113, Holborn, E.C., Second Door from Hatton Garden, London; and of all Chemists, in Patent Glass Stoppered Bottles, 2/6, 4/6, 11/- and 21/- each.

CAUTION.—For the protection of the Public and myself against fraudulent and piratic imitations, I have applied for, and again obtained, a perpetual injunction, with costs, against the defendant, a Chemist in Manchester. OBSERVE—the genuine has my Name, Trade Mark, and Signature on a Buff-coloured Wrapper.

See perpetual injunction against imitators, also the unanimous judgment of the Lords Justices Bramwell, Brett, and Cotton, 22nd January, 1878, against the Government and in favour of its free sale by all vendors.

BRAGG'S VEGETABLE CHARCOAL.

The number of instances of marvellous benefit derived from the steady, persevering use of pure Charcoal would be too numerous to mention. Liver complaints; Jaundice, from long residence in hot climates; removal of Stomach and Intestinal Worms in children and adults; Indigestion, Flatulence, Nervousness; and, in fact, most of the ills which flesh is heir to, have been permanently removed by this simple agent alone. Its action in absorbing impure gases and acidity in the stomach is unrivalled. Recommended by many eminent physicians. See Report from The Lancet, August 30th, 1862.
