

Activities

Paul Ashby, San Francisco State College, will be on sabbatical leave during the 1970 spring semester.

Douglas E. Ashford, Cornell University, is on sabbatical leave during 1969-70 at the Institute for Development Studies, University of Sussex, England.

Paul C. Bartholomew, University of Notre Dame, spent the spring semester lecturing in Ireland at the National University, Trinity College, Dublin, Queen's University, Belfast and University College, Galway. Following this he went around the world stopping in various countries to investigate courts and judges in the interest of his study of comparative judicial systems. Enroute he gave a lecture at Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok.

Eric Beecroft, University of Western Ontario, has been appointed chairman of a committee of the Canadian Council on Urban and Regional Research to supervise a study of "Education for Urban Management".

James Bill, University of Texas, Austin, delivered a paper at the Conference on the Structure of Power in Islamic Iran at the University of California, Los Angeles, June 26-28, 1969.

Henry S. Bloch, Columbia University, was awarded the degree of Doctor Honoris Causa in economic, political and social sciences by the University of Brussels.

Allan Bloom, Cornell University, is on sabbatical leave for 1969-70. He will teach courses at the University of Tel-Aviv in the fall and spend the rest of the year doing research in Paris.

David S. Brown, George Washington University, was Academic Director of the 24th annual New England City Management Conference at the University of Maine, August 20-22.

Coralie Bryant, American University, will be on leave during the academic year 1969-70, studying and doing research at the London School of Economics.

John H. Bunzel, San Francisco State College, has received a Ford Foundation Research Grant for the 1969-70 academic year. At its meeting on April 26, the Northern California Political Science Association presented Professor Bunzel its annual Presidential Award for Outstanding Service in the field of political science, with special commendation for his defense of academic freedom at San Francisco State College.

L. K. Caldwell, Indiana University, Will be on sabbatical leave the fall semester, 1969-70.

Dorothy Cline, University of New Mexico, is on sabbatical leave during the first semester, 1969-70, and has been elected a delegate to the New Mexico State Constitutional Convention.

Morris W. H. Collins, Jr., University of Georgia, has been elected to membership in the National Academy of Public Administration.

Delmer D. Dunn, University of Georgia, has been appointed Research Associate at the Brookings Institution for 1969-70.

Robert Eagle, Ohio University, helped direct the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mass Political Communication for college teachers at Ohio University during the summer of 1969.

Stephen L. Elkin, University of Pennsylvania, will be at the Sociology Department, University of Leicester, United Kingdom for the 1969-70 academic year on grants from the Social Science Research Council and the American Philosophical Society.

Robert Y. Fluno, Whitman College, will be on sabbatical leave in Italy during second semester of the 1969-70 academic year.

Roger A. Freeman, Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, Stanford University, has been appointed Special Assistant to the President.

Ralph Goldman, San Francisco State College, will be on sabbatical leave during the academic year 1969-70.

Lawrence Graham, University of Texas, Austin, has been appointed to the Executive Committee of the Latin American Development Administration Committee, a subcommittee of the Comparative Administration Group.

Andrew Hacker, Cornell University, is on sabbatical leave during 1969-70.

Jonathan P. Hawley, University of Tulsa, has returned to the department following a year as an American Political Science Association Congressional Fellow.

Harvey Heath, Edinboro State College, is on leave for the 1969-70 academic year to conclude work on his dissertation at Temple University.

Richard L. Hough, Fletcher School of Law & Diplomacy, Tufts University, has been appointed to a position responsible for carrying out major new land reform measures in South Vietnam.

Chun-tu Hsueh, University of Maryland, lectured on "triangular relations of Peking, Moscow, and Washington" at the Institute of World Economy and International Relations of the Academy of Sciences, USSR, September, 1969. He was also invited to conduct a seminar on the same subject at the Academy's Oriental Institute, Moscow.

Elijah Ben-Zion Kaminsky, Arizona State University, spent four weeks in France to observe the presidential campaign and elections on an Arizona State University Faculty Research Grant, and was granted sabbatical leave in 1969 for research on French presidential politics.

Majid Khadduri, Center of Middle East Studies, School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University, will be on leave of absence during the spring semester, 1970, while giving a lecture course on Islamic law at St. Antony's College, Oxford University, England, during the Hilary and Trinity terms in 1970.

Edward A. Kolodziej, University of Virginia, has resigned as chairman of the Woodrow Wilson Department of Government and Foreign Affairs to accept a Ford Foundation Faculty Fellowship in the Social Sciences. He will be on leave in Paris throughout 1970 completing a study on French foreign policy.

Fred Krinsky, University of Southern California, is on sabbatical leave during the fall semester, 1969, while continuing as general editor of Glencoe Press Insight Series.

Walter H. C. Laves, Indiana University, will be on sabbatical leave during the fall semester, 1969-70.

Gerald S. Maryanov, Northern Illinois University, is on leave of absence during 1969-70 as visiting professor at The Institute of Social Studies, The Hague, Netherlands, under a Faculty Research and Exchange Relationship between Northern Illinois University and the Institute.

Max Milam, University of Arkansas, is currently on leave serving as Director, Department of Administration, for the state of Arkansas.

Manindra Kumar Mohapatra, Old Dominion University, spent two months in India last summer, doing field work for a project on Indian legislative behavior. The study was financed by a travel grant from the University of Kentucky.

Richter H. Moore, Jr., East Tennessee State University, has been granted a leave to serve as full time research consultant for the Committee on the Office of Attorney General of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Robert A. Mortimer, Haverford College, will spend the 1969-70 academic year in Senegal, doing research on foreign policy decision-making, supported by a Fulbright-Hays grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

David Mozingo, Cornell University, has been on leave for the fall term, 1969, doing research in Hong Kong and Southeast Asia.

Martin C. Needler, University of New Mexico, will be on sabbatical leave during the second semester, 1969-70.

R. J. Novogrod, Long Island University, will be on sabbatical leave in order to serve as an advisor to the Governor of Rhode Island.

Norman D. Palmer, University of Pennsylvania, was elected Vice President and President-elect of the International Studies Association at their annual meeting held in San Francisco, March, 1969; Professor Palmer is also actively involved as a member of the Program Committee in the preparations for the first meeting of a new regional Political Science Association, embracing New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, to be known as the Northeast Political Science Associations. They will hold their first meeting in Hartford, Connecticut, November 6-8, 1969.

Robert Presthus, York University, Toronto, has received an extension of an initial grant from the Canada Council for a three-year comparative study of interest groups in Canada and the United States.

Sara M. Shumer, Haverford College, has been granted a leave for the fall semester, 1969, in residence at University of California, Berkeley, supported by a Ford Foundation stipend to strengthen teaching in the Humanities and humanistic aspects of social science.

William J. Siffin, Indiana University, will be on sabbatical leave the fall semester, 1969-70.

Michael P. Smith, Dartmouth College, was invited to participate in the Management Intern Lecture-Seminar Series conducted by the U.S. Civil Service Commission in September 1969. He lectured on "The Bureaucracy, Self-Expression, and Alienation."

Samuel R. Solomon, Eastern Michigan University, will be on sabbatical leave for the spring semester, 1969-70, doing research on the American governor.

Manfred Stevens, Lamar State College of Technology, attended the World Congress of Local Authorities in Vienna, June 16-21, 1969.

John E. Stoner, Indiana University, will be on sabbatical leave the spring semester, 1969-70.

News and Notes

Activities

Edward Taborsky, University of Texas, Austin, has been awarded a research grant for the summer of 1970 by the American Council of Learned Societies for research on the diplomacy of Edward Benes from 1938-1948.

Kenneth H. Thompson, University of Southern California, has been awarded a Ford Foundation Faculty Research Fellowship for 1969-70.

George O. Totten, University of Southern California, will continue in 1969-70 for the second year as campus director in Los Angeles for the "USC Year in Japan Program at Waseda University." In October 1968 he was invited to Tokyo to attend the Political Forum, II, on Ethical and Social Demands of World Religions, sponsored by the Friederich-Ebert-Stiftung of Bonn. In January 1969 he presented another paper at the Conference on Taisho Japan, held at Duke University. In that same month he completed a one-year assignment of producing a biweekly radio program for KPEK-FM in Los Angeles entitled, "The Open Shoji on Japan."

Daniel Trainer, Edinboro State College, is on leave for the 1969-70 academic year to conclude work on his dissertation at Syracuse University.

William R. Tucker, Lamar State College of Technology, has been granted a Faculty Development Leave for the spring term, 1970.

S. Sidney Ulmer, University of Kentucky, has been appointed to the Political Science Advisory Panel for the National Science Foundation for 1969-70.

Arpad von Lazar, Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, has carried out research on community power and development in the Dominican Republic during the summer of 1969.

Harrison Wagner, University of Texas, Austin, will serve as assistant editor of the Journal of Politics during the academic year 1969-70.

Sidney R. Waldman, Haverford College, has completed a year's leave in residence at Yale during the 1968-69 academic year, supported by an SSRC grant for research on aspects of social psychology and politics.

Robert Weissberg, Cornell University, will be on leave for the spring term 1970 to do research in England.

Henry Wells, University of Pennsylvania, will be on sabbatical leave for the academic year 1969-70 to serve as a Fulbright-Hays lecturer at the School of Political Science, University of Costa Rica.

Kurt Wilk, Naval War College, spent the summer semester teaching international law at the University of Cologne, West Germany.

T. P. Wolf, University of New Mexico, will be on sabbatical leave during the second semester, 1969-70.

Theodore P. Wright, Jr., SUNY at Albany, will be in Bombay, India during 1969-70 as a Faculty Fellow of the American Institute of Indian Studies to study modernization in a Muslim trading community. He has also received a University Research Fellowship from the SUNY Research Foundation.

Staff Changes

New Appointments

Khairy Abdel-Kawi, associate professor, University of Arkansas.

Weston Agor, assistant professor, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh; formerly of University of Wisconsin.

Jean D. Andrew, professor, Edinboro State College; formerly of University of Maine, Augusta.

Edward L. Angus, research specialist, Bureau of Information Sciences Research, Graduate School of Library Service, Rutgers, The State University; formerly of Memphis State University.

George Antunes, instructor, Rice University.

Orhan Ayhan, instructor, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh; formerly of New York University.

Max Azicri, associate professor, Edinboro State College.

Kenneth D. Bailey, assistant professor, University of Arkansas.

Michael Ban, assistant professor, Purdue University; formerly of University of California, Santa Cruz.

A. Doak Barnett, senior fellow, The Brookings Institution; formerly of Columbia University.

John T. Batchelder, assistant professor, Grand Valley State College; formerly of University of Iowa.

Robert E. Bedeski, assistant professor, Ohio State University.

Larry L. Berg, instructor, University of Southern California.

Joel S. Berke, special assistant to the chairman, Policy Institute, and visiting lecturer, Syracuse University.

George E. Berkley, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

G. Wayne Bradley, assistant professor, San Francisco State College.

C. Gray Bream, associate professor, Loyola University, Chicago.

Thomas Brewer, assistant professor, Eastern Michigan University.

Richard E. Brown, associate professor, College of William and Mary; formerly of Tennessee Valley Authority.

Thomas C. Bruneau, assistant professor, McGill University.

Peter Bullard, instructor, University of Kentucky.

Charles E. Butterworth, assistant professor, University of Maryland; formerly of Federal City College.

David Cahill, assistant professor, Eastern Michigan University.

David Caputo, assistant professor, Purdue University.

Rolando Del Carmen, assistant professor, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh; formerly of University of Illinois.

John L. Carmichael, Jr., lecturer, University of Alabama, Birmingham.

Irving C. Carrig, instructor, Loyola University, Chicago.

Elwyn F. Chase, Jr., assistant professor, St. Joseph's College.

King C. Chen, associate professor, Newark College of Arts & Sciences, Rutgers University; formerly of Brown University.

Roy B. Christman, instructor, Pennsylvania State University, Behrend campus.

Linda Cook, instructor, Northeastern State College.

Thomas Cook, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University; formerly of Florida State University.

Neal E. Cutler, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

Alfonso J. Damico, interim assistant professor, University of Florida; formerly of Ohio State University.

Charles Richard Edson, instructor, University of Southern California.

Charles D. Elder, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

Sidney Elkin, instructor, Pennsylvania State University, Beaver campus.

Milton Esman, professor, Cornell University; formerly of University of Pittsburgh.

Fred J. Foley, Jr., lecturer, St. Joseph's College.

Trond Gilberg, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University; formerly of University of Wisconsin.

Madan Lal Goel, assistant professor, University of West Florida; formerly of SUNY at Buffalo and Niagara University.

Robert F. Goodman, assistant professor, University of Southern California.

News and Notes

Staff Changes

Gibson Gray, assistant professor, Central State College; formerly of North Texas State University.

William Green, instructor, Gannon College.

Ira Grinnell, instructor, Northeastern State College.

J. Norment Hanley, assistant professor and coordinator of the black studies program, SUNY at Brockport; formerly of the United States Civil Service Commission.

G. Eric Hansen, assistant professor, Haverford College; formerly of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

William H. Harbold, professor, Whitman College; formerly of University of Washington.

James E. Harf, instructor, Ohio State University.

Barbara G. Haskel, assistant professor, McGill University.

Bruce Haston, assistant professor, Humboldt State College.

Leo A. Hazlewood, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

Gerard P. Heather, assistant professor, San Francisco State College.

F. Ted Hebert, assistant professor, University of Oklahoma.

James S. Henderson, assistant professor, University of Maine.

Lenneal J. Henderson, Jr., instructor, St. Mary's College.

Donald Hester, instructor, Pennsylvania State University, Oqantz campus; formerly of University of Pennsylvania.

Robert A. Holmes, associate professor, Southern University.

Francis W. Hoole, interim assistant professor, University of Florida; formerly of Northwestern University.

Jerry B. Jenkins, assistant professor, University of West Florida; formerly of University of Oregon.

Anthony J. Joes, instructor, St. Joseph's College.

E. Terrence Jones, assistant professor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Ruth Jones, instructor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Walter S. Jones, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

Jack Kangas, instructor, Purdue University.

Stefan J. Kapsch, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

David Karns, assistant professor, Cornell University.

Catherine McArdle Kelleher, assistant professor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly of Barnard College.

Lyman A. Kellstedt, associate professor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly of SUNY at Buffalo.

Aubrey C. King, lecturer, University of Maryland.

James Kingsland, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University; formerly of Northwestern University.

James W. Kolka, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin, Green Bay; formerly of University of Kansas.

Wilma R. Krauss, assistant professor, Northern Illinois University.

Wray Kunkle, assistant professor, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh; formerly of American University.

Ronald M. Labbe, assistant professor, University of Southwestern Louisiana; formerly of Loyola University of the South.

Joseph Le May, assistant professor, Newark College of Arts & Sciences, Rutgers University; formerly of Vassar College.

Louis Leopold, instructor, Pennsylvania State University, Altoona campus.

Arthur Lerman, assistant professor, University of Missouri, Columbia; formerly of Princeton University.

Charles F. Levine, instructor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly of SUNY at Stony Brook.

Harvey Lieber, assistant professor, American University; formerly of Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Carol Loomis, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University; formerly of Columbia University.

Sarah P. McCally, assistant professor, Manhattanville College; formerly of Herbert Lehman College.

Vincent E. McHale, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

Kevin L. McKeough, assistant professor, Northern Illinois University; formerly of Loyola University, Chicago.

Charles Macklin, instructor, and coordinator of black studies program development, Roosevelt University.

James A. Medeiros, assistant professor, North-eastern University.

Daniel Melnick, lecturer, University of Maryland.

Robert Metcalfe, assistant professor, McGill University.

Lynn H. Miller, associate professor, Temple University; formerly of University of California, Los Angeles.

David R. Morgan, assistant professor, University of Oklahoma.

Frank J. Munger, professor, University of Florida; formerly of Syracuse University.

Michael Murray, assistant professor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly of University of Illinois, Urbana.

David J. Myers, assistant professor, department of social science, United States Military Academy.

Mark Nadel, assistant professor, Cornell University.

Clark D. Neher, assistant professor, Northern Illinois University.

William F. Nelson, Jr., instructor, Ohio State University.

David Nichols, assistant professor, department of Interdisciplinary studies in social science, Case Western Reserve University.

David Nixon, instructor, Pennsylvania State University, McKeesport campus; formerly of Johns Hopkins University.

Robert J. Osborn, associate professor, Temple University; formerly of University of Pennsylvania.

Gerald D. Palmer, instructor, Alfred University; formerly of Columbia University.

Kenneth T. Palmer, associate professor, University of Maine.

Dennis H. Paranzino, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

Harold Pash, associate professor, California State College (Pennsylvania).

Thomas J. Pavlack, instructor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Frederic Pearson, instructor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Robert E. Pendley, assistant professor, Rice University.

Robert L. Pfaltzgraff, lecturer, St. Joseph's College.

Lee H. Pitock, instructor, St. Joseph's College.

Edward Plafkin, assistant professor, Grand Valley State College; formerly of Fresno State College.

Goeffrey Pommer, instructor, Loyola University, Chicago.

William J. Price, assistant professor, Slippery Rock State College; formerly of University of Georgia.

Milton Rakove, professor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly of North East Illinois State College.

Earl Reeves, associate professor and director of special undergraduate programs in urban fields, University of Tulsa; formerly of University of Missouri, St. Louis.

John A. Rehfuss, associate professor, Northern Illinois University; formerly of United States Civil Service Commission's Executive Seminar Center.

Robert Rhodes, associate professor, Edinboro State College.

Marvin L. Rogers, assistant professor, University of Missouri, Columbia; formerly of San Fernando Valley State College.

Richard E. Rubenstein, associate professor, Roosevelt University and continuing part time, Adlai Stevenson Institute.

Leonard I. Ruchelman, associate professor, Lehigh University; formerly of Alfred University.

Jerrold Rusk, assistant professor, Purdue University, formerly of University of Michigan.

Hisham Sabki, assistant professor, Eastern Michigan University.

Lawrence Scheinman, associate professor, University of Michigan; formerly of University of California, Los Angeles.

Earle Sealy, assistant professor, Bloomfield College; formerly of Georgetown University.

Suzanne Sebert, lecturer, University of Maryland.

Roy W. Shin, assistant professor, University of Maine.

Robert N. Spadaro, instructor, Temple University.

Murray S. Stedman, Jr., professor, Temple University; formerly of Trinity College.

David Sturtevant, assistant professor, University of Missouri, Columbia; formerly of University of California, Berkeley.

Chester N. Tate, instructor, Newcomb College, Tulane University.

Albert H. Teich, Fellow and visiting lecturer, Policy Institute, Syracuse University.

B. Thomas Trout, instructor, University of New Hampshire.

News and Notes

Staff Changes

Pauline Vaillancourt, assistant professor, McGill University.

Larry J. Warner, assistant professor, Alfred University; formerly of Dickenson College.

Robert Weissberg, assistant professor, Cornell University.

Manfred W. Wenner, associate professor, Northern Illinois University; formerly of Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh.

Robert White, assistant professor, Humboldt State College.

Susan White, instructor, University of New Hampshire.

Thomas C. Wiegele, assistant professor, Northern Illinois University.

Jonathan Wilkenfeld, assistant professor, University of Maryland.

W. Marvin Will, assistant professor, University of Tulsa.

George L. Willis, professor, University of Toledo; formerly of Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh.

Glynn L. Wood, assistant professor, American University; formerly of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Jong Hae Yoo, assistant professor, Eastern Michigan University.

Joseph Zikmund, II, associate professor, Albion College; formerly of Center for the Study of Federalism, Temple University.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Tocary Bastos, professor, University of New Mexico, 1969-70.

Walter Berns, Cornell University; professor, University of Toronto, 1st term, 1969-70.

Chin O. Chung, assistant professor, Humboldt State College.

David Corbett, professor, McGill University, spring 1970.

James Cregar, lecturer, Eastern Michigan University, 1969-70.

Arthur Davies, University of New England, Australia; lecturer, Temple University, fall semester, 1969.

John Furey, Dillard University; professor, Tulane University, summer 1969.

Norma Gilbert, assistant professor, University of New Mexico, 1969-70.

Thomas H. Greene, Michigan State University; associate professor, University of Southern California, 1969-70.

Teresa R. Harmstone, associate professor, McGill University, spring 1970.

Samuel Hendel, City College, CUNY; professor, Trinity College, Hartford, 1969-70.

Harley D. Holt, assistant professor, University of New Mexico, 1969-70.

Henry S. Kariel, University of Hawaii; professor, Columbia University, spring semester, 1970.

Don E. Kash, Purdue University; associate professor, Indiana University, fall semester, 1969-70.

Teresa Carr King, associate professor and acting director, graduate program in public administration, Roosevelt University.

C. Stephen Long, University of Hawaii; assistant professor, University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Michael Parenti, lecturer and post-doctoral fellow, Yale University; associate professor of research, University of Illinois, Urbana.

Ralph Ranald, associate professor, University of Maryland.

Frank S. Ransburg, counselor, Junior Division, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

Dov Ronen, assistant professor, Purdue University, 1969-71.

Jerrold G. Rusk, assistant professor, Purdue University; scholar, Catholic School of Economics and Social Science, Tilberg, The Netherlands.

Leon I. Salomon, research Fellow, Yale Law School.

Lawrence Scheinman, University of Michigan; research scholar, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 1969-70.

Philip Siegelman, San Francisco State College; professor, University of California, Berkeley, 1969-70.

Lincoln Smith, associate professor, New York University; professor, Acadia University, Nova Scotia, summer 1969.

Herbert J. Storing, University of Chicago; associate professor, Northern Illinois University.

Frederick C. Teiwes, assistant professor, Cornell University 1969-70 and 1970-71.

Robert Wrinkle, assistant professor and assistant director, Division of Government Research, University of New Mexico, 1969-70.

Carolyn Zinn, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University, Fayette campus.

Administration Appointments

Lyndon E. Abbott, assistant professor and director, Public Administration Program, University of Dayton.

Emile B. Ader, acting chairman, University of Arkansas.

Stephen K. Bailey, chairman, Policy Institute, Syracuse University. He will continue as Maxwell Professor, Syracuse University.

Eric Beecroft, professor of urban studies, faculty of Engineering Science and director of the new Urban and Regional Development Studies Program, Faculty of Graduate Studies, University of Western Ontario.

Thomas Bennett, chairman, Loyola University, Chicago.

C. L. Beros, chairman, American University of Beirut; formerly of University of Colorado.

John C. Buechner, associate dean of Arts and Sciences, University of Colorado, Denver; formerly director, Bureau of Governmental Research and Service, University of Colorado, Boulder.

Byrum E. Carter, chancellor, Indiana University, Bloomington.

Carl P. Chelf, assistant dean, Faculty Programs, Western Kentucky University. Professor Chelf will be an administrative fellow, American Council on Education for 1969-70.

Ronald S. Christenson, associate professor and chairman, Gustavus Adolphus College; formerly of Luther College.

Charles L. Clapp, special assistant to the President in charge of Domestic Programs; formerly of Smithsonian Institution

James F. Davidson, professor and dean, Newcomb College, Tulane University.

Arch Dotson, acting chairman, Cornell University.

Edwin M. Epstein, associate professor and director, Office of Urban Programs, Schools of Business Administration, University of California, Berkeley.

Milton J. Esman, director, Center for International Studies, Cornell University; formerly director, Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, University of Pittsburgh.

Donald M. Freeman, professor and chairman, University of West Florida; formerly of University of Arizona.

Richard T. Frost, professor and director, Urban Division of the Policy Institute, Syracuse University.

Richard W. Gable, chairman, University of California, Davis.

Alba M. Gillespie, dean, Graduate Studies and Research, Humboldt State College.

Leonard E. Goodall, vice chancellor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly associate dean of faculties.

Stuart Graham, director, Social and Economic development Bureau, Hudson River Valley Commission's Comprehensive Planning Department; formerly senior research analyst.

David H. Grubbs, professor and chairman, Middle Tennessee State University.

Charles S. Hall, education adviser to the Commandant, U.S. Army War College; formerly of Carlisle Research Office, Operations Research Inc.

William H. Harader, assistant professor and director, Center for Governmental Services, Indiana State University; formerly of Northern Illinois University.

Lawrence J. R. Herson, dean, Undergraduate Programs, Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Ohio State University.

Richard I. Hofferbert, associate chairman, Cornell University.

Malcolm Jewell, chairman, University of Kentucky.

Richard M. Johnson, professor and head, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle; formerly of SUNY at Buffalo.

R. S. Junn, chairman, Grand Valley State College.

Elijah Ben-Zion Kaminsky, assistant dean, College of Liberal Arts, Arizona State University.

John E. Kerrigan, assistant director, Bureau of Governmental Research and Service, University of Colorado; formerly city manager, Aspen.

Jarold A. Kieffer, director, Macalester Foundation for Higher Education, St. Paul, Minnesota; formerly of University of Oregon.

Samuel A. Kirkpatrick, acting director, Bureau of Government Research, University of Oklahoma.

Philip S. Kronenberg, director, Institute of Public Administration, Indiana University.

News and Notes

Staff Changes

Eldon W. Lanning, administrative assistant and director of Off-campus Studies, University of Maryland..

A. E. Lapitan, chairman, University of Dayton; formerly of University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Clyde D. McKee, Jr., associate professor and acting chairman, Trinity College.

Hugh G. MacNiven, director, International Programs, University of Oklahoma.

Louis S. Meyer, professor and head, Edinboro State College.

Kenneth E. Miller, associate dean, Newark College of Arts & Sciences, Rutgers University.

William R. Monat, professor and chairman, Northern Illinois University; formerly of Pennsylvania State University.

David Mozingo, director, International Relations of East Asia Project, Cornell University.

Thomas P. Murphy, assistant to the chancellor, University of Missouri, Kansas City for Urban Affairs. Dr. Murphy retains his former position and title of professor and director of Public Administration.

Grady H. Nunn, professor and chairman, University of Alabama, Birmingham; formerly of Auburn University.

Joseph L. Nyomarkay, acting chairman, University of Southern California.

James S. Ottenberg, executive director, Child Study Association of America.

Robert S. Peckham, acting chairman, Alfred University.

John Ranlett, chairman, SUNY College at Potsdam.

Frank S. Ransburg, assistant dean of men, Southern University.

Sydney A. Reid, professor and chairman, Florida A and M University; formerly of Virginia State College.

Gregor M. Reinhard, acting director, Gannon College.

Harold V. Rhodes, acting chairman, University of New Mexico.

Randall B. Ripley, acting chairman, Ohio State University.

James A. Robinson, vice president for academic affairs and provost, Ohio State University.

Lyman Tower Sargent, chairman, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

R. D. Sloan, Jr., director, Bureau of Governmental Research and Service, University of Colorado.

James J. Solem, associate director, Urban Programs, Extension Division, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Allan Spitz, professor, International Relations and director, Field Experience Program, James Madison College, Michigan State University; formerly of University of Wisconsin, Rock County campus.

Frederick Stoerker, dean, Summer Sessions, Kingsborough Community College, CUNY; formerly director, Educational Services of the Council on International Educational Exchange.

Seymour Stotland, assistant director, Institute for Environmental Studies, University of Pennsylvania.

Edwin B. Strong, chairman, University of Tulsa.

Robert S. Sullivant, dean, Graduate School, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Harold M. Waller, chairman, McGill University.

Daniel Wit, director, International Programs, Northern Illinois University.

James S. Young, associate director for Academic Affairs, Urban Center, Columbia University.

Promotions

David Adamany, Wesleyan University: associate professor.

Paul M. Bernstein, Temple University: assistant professor.

John C. Buechner, University of Colorado: professor.

Philip M. Burgess, Ohio State University: associate professor.

Soon Sung Cho, University of Missouri, Columbia: professor.

Jerry B. Colleston, Miami University (Ohio): assistant professor.

Gilbert M. Cuthbertson, Rice University: associate professor.

Hampton T. Davey, Jr., University of Missouri, St. Louis: assistant professor.

Rondal G. Downing, University of Missouri, Columbia: professor.

Michael P. Gehlen, Purdue University: professor.

R. Gene Geisler, San Francisco State College: professor.

John S. Gillespie, Tulane University: associate professor.

Harvey Glickman, Haverford College: professor.

Minton F. Goldman, Northeastern University: associate professor.

William B. Gwyn, Tulane University: professor.

Richard I. Hofferbert, Cornell University: associate professor.

Dean Jaros, University of Kentucky: associate professor.

Philip S. Kronenberg, Indiana University: assistant professor.

Sanford V. Levinson, Ohio State University: assistant professor.

D. Richard Little, Northern Illinois University: associate professor.

Lawrence D. Longley, Lawrence University: assistant professor.

Linda Lubrano Greenberg, School of International Service, American University: assistant professor.

Barbara McLennan, Temple University: associate professor.

Alvin Magid, Graduate School of Public Affairs, SUNY at Albany: associate professor.

M. A. K. Menon, Laurentian University: associate professor.

Louis Nemzer, Ohio State University: professor.

Dan Nimmo, University of Missouri, Columbia: professor

Don C. Piper, University of Maryland: professor.

Dale Pontius, Roosevelt University: professor.

Robert Presthus, York University, Toronto: University professor.

Barnabas A. Racz, Eastern Michigan University: associate professor.

Harold V. Rhodes, University of New Mexico: associate professor.

Bradley M. Richardson, Ohio State University: associate professor.

Warren Roberts, Newcomb College, Tulane University: professor.

Sheldon Simon, University of Kentucky: associate professor.

Ilie Smultea, Humboldt State College: associate professor.

Barry N. Stein, Michigan State University: assistant professor.

Philip D. Stewart, Ohio State University: associate professor.

Charles Taylor, McGill University: professor.

Paul Wallace, University of Missouri, Columbia: associate professor.

Ronald E. Weber, Indiana University: assistant professor.

Conrad J. Weiler, Temple University: assistant professor.

Henry Wells, University of Pennsylvania: professor.

Retirements and Resignations

Walter F. Berns, has resigned from Cornell University.

Richard M. Bray, has resigned as dean, College of Continuing Education, American University, to return to full time teaching as professor.

Herbert W. Briggs, Cornell University, retired at the end of the 1968-69 academic year after more than forty years of service at that institution. He has been named Goldwin Smith professor of international law, Emeritus.

W. V. Holloway, has resigned as dean, Graduate School, University of Tulsa, to return to full time teaching.

Edwin C. Hoyt, has resigned as chairman of the department and will continue as professor, University of New Mexico.

Philip W. Ireland, is retiring as professor of diplomatic history and international relations, Bologna Center, School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University; he has accepted an invitation to become visiting professor at the University of Canterbury, New Zealand for the academic year 1970-71.

Wayne Shannon, has resigned from the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, to go to the University of Connecticut.

Allan P. Sindler, has resigned from Cornell University.

Corrections

In the Summer, 1969, issue of P.S. under New Appointments, the affiliation of Jeanne E. Hahn, acting assistant professor, Oberlin College, was incorrectly listed as Western Michigan University.