

Law & Society Review
BASIC STYLE SHEET

All manuscripts should be typed double-spaced on one side only. Rejected manuscripts cannot ordinarily be returned. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include footnotes and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the author to conform to the style of the Review. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult recent issues of this journal for further illustrations. A more detailed style sheet is available from the editorial office.

1. CITATIONS: All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. They should follow the statement they support and be in the following style:

(last name of author, year: page number or numbers to which you refer, if any)

EXAMPLE: . . . the opposition in Paris (Rudé, 1967: 167).

2. FOOTNOTES: All footnotes should be numbered sequentially and placed immediately after the text. They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.

3. REFERENCES: References are to be placed at the end of the manuscript and double spaced. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in reverse chronological order beginning with the most recent. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a; 1970b).

a. BOOKS: LAST NAME, First name (year) Title of Book. City: Publisher.

EXAMPLE: ARNOLD, Thurman W. (1935) The Symbols of Government. New York: Harcourt, Brace and World.

b. ARTICLES: LAST NAME, First name (year) "Title of article," volume number Journal initial page of article (month and day only if each issue is separately paginated).

EXAMPLE: STERN, Curt (1970) "The Continuity of Genetics," 99 Daedalus 882.

4. TABLES AND FIGURES: Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

5. ABSTRACTS: All articles should include an abstract of between 50 and 100 words.

Announcing a new series—

Language and Legal Discourse

William M. O'Barr and John
M. Conley, Series Editors

This is a new series of books that concern themselves with the investigation of law through the study of language and discourse. The title of the series is meant to be construed broadly to encompass a wide range of work from empirical studies of language use in legal contexts to studies that focus on discourses of and about the law and on the law's own "talk" about itself.

GETTING JUSTICE AND GETTING EVEN

Legal Consciousness among Working-Class Americans

Sally Engle Merry

This ethnographic examination of the courtroom and mediation experiences of working class Americans reveals the paradox of legal entitlement: in return for empowerment in domestic situations, the litigant must yield control of the situation to the legal system.

*Paper $19.95 238 pages 8 tables
Library cloth edition $40.00 (est.)*

THE BILINGUAL COURTROOM

Court Interpreters in the Judicial Process

Susan Berk-Seligson

Berk-Seligson disproves the courts' fundamental assumption that interpreters do not affect the content of proceedings. Her findings suggest that, in some cases, interpretation could mean the difference between being found guilty or innocent.

*Paper $19.95 320 pages 15 tables
Library cloth edition $50.00*

RULES VERSUS RELATIONSHIPS

The Ethnography of Legal Discourse

John M. Conley and William M. O'Barr

This detailed ethnographic study analyzes litigants with either rule-oriented or relational approaches to the legal system, their interaction with one of five types of judicial approaches, and the unique legal experience each produces.

Library cloth edition $34.00*

From the author of When Words Lose Their Meaning

Justice as Translation

An Essay in Cultural and Legal Criticism

James Boyd White

White asks how one can and should criticize legal culture and the texts within it, exploring the possibility of cultural criticism, the nature of conceptual language, the character of economic and legal discourse, and the appropriate expectations for any critical and analytic writing.

"Using Fourth Amendment examples, White offers an original and powerful alternative to the standard methods of reading and criticizing cases. He explodes traditional categories such as original intent, plain meaning, and precedent from within."—Mary Ann Glendon

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR 1991 HARRY KALVEN PRIZE

The Harry Kalven Prize is awarded biennially by the Law and Society Association for "empirical scholarship that has contributed most effectively to the advancement of research in law and society." It is not a book prize, but is given in recognition of a body of scholarly work. Neither is it a "career achievement" award, however, and at least some portion of the work for which the award is given should have been completed within the past few years.

The committee to select the 1991 recipient of the award consists of Joel Grossman [chair] and Martha Fineman, University of Wisconsin-Madison; Michael Saks, University of Iowa; Susan Shapiro, American Bar Foundation; and Anne Witte, Wellesley College.

Nominations of candidates or suggestions for the committee's consideration should be forwarded to:

Joel Grossman
Kalven Prize Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
University of Wisconsin-Madison
Madison, WI 53706.

Documentation concerning the significance and contributions of the research, including citations to publications, will assist the committee in its consideration of candidates. Nominations should be received by December 1st, 1990. The award will be presented at the 1991 annual meeting of the Association in Amsterdam, Netherlands.
