"We have experimentally proved that Listerine is a powerful antiseptic, preventing the development of bacteria and decomposition of vegetable infusions."—British Medical Journal, May 3, 1890.

LISTERINE

A safe, non-poisonous, unirritating antiseptic solution

LISTERINE is particularly useful in the treatment of abnormal conditions of the mucosa, and admirably suited for a wash, gargle, or douche, in catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat.

LISTERINE in proper dilution may be freely and continuously used without prejudicial effect, either by injection or spray, in all the natural cavities of the body.

LISTERINE embodies a two-fold antiseptic effect, in that after the evaporation of its volatile constituents—thyme, eucalyptus, mentha, gaultheria, and ethyl alcohol—a film of boracic and benzoic acids remains upon the surface to which Listerine has been applied, affording more prolonged antiseptic protection.

LISTERINE is a trustworthy surgical dressing; it has no injurious effect upon the tissues in which the healing process is going on.

LISTERINE in teaspoonful doses will often afford relief in fermentative dyspepsia, and is largely prescribed, with excellent results, in the various forms of diarrhoea, occurring in infants and adults.

LISTERINE literature, including special pamphlets upon Respiratory Diseases, may be had, by physicians, upon application to

DIAGNOSTIC PROTEIN EXTRACTS

A wide range of PROTEIN EXTRACTS in stable and convenient form for the diagnosis of sensitization to foreign proteins is now available. These extracts are in the form of paste with a glycerin-boric acid base, and are supplied in collapsible tubes with narrow outlets, so that minute quantities can be removed for tests. The technique is extremely simple; slightly scarify the site of the test and apply a small quantity of the paste, rubbing it in with any sterile appliance.

The series consists of 144 Protein Extracts from the following sources:— foods, 98; seasonings, 6; pollens, 9; bacteria, 14; hair, wool, or feathers, 10; besides horse serum, bovine serum, tobacco, and peptone.

A control paste is supplied consisting only of the glycerin-boric acid base.

The Protein Extracts are also combined in groups, of which there are 27 in all, so that the patient's susceptibility toward five or six of the proteins may be tested with one scarification, thus materially economising time.

Each tube contains sufficient material for from 40 to 50 tests.

Price 2/6 per tube or 27/6 for 12 tubes, any assortment. A list of the Protein Extracts and groups will be sent on request.
