All Abraham's Children

Changing Mormon Conceptions of Race and Lineage

ARMAND L. MAUSS

"All Abraham's Children affords a highly engrossing and superbly researched account of changing Mormon relations with minorities from the time of the religion's founding to the present. I expect it to become a classic." — Charles Y. Glock, coauthor of Religion and Society in Tension

Hardcover, $36.95

Gender and the Social Gospel

Edited by WENDY J. DEICHMANN EDWARDS and CAROLYN DE SWARTE GIFFORD

This collection examines the central role played by women in the formation of the social gospel movement. A practical theological response to the stark realities of poverty and injustice prevalent in turn-of-the-century America, the social gospel movement sought to apply the teachings of Jesus and the message of Christian salvation to society by striving to improve the lives of the impoverished and the disenfranchised. The contributors to this volume set out to broaden our understanding of this radical movement by examining the lives of some of its passionate and vibrant female participants.

The Book of Mormon

A Reader's Edition

Edited by GRANT HARDY

Available July 2003

This Readers Edition reformats the complete, unchanged 1920 text in the manner of modern translations of the Bible. This edition also features a map, a full glossary of names, genealogical charts, a basic bibliography, a chronology of the translation, and information regarding the lost 116 pages and significant changes in the text. "Hardy's helpful edition should go a long way toward making the Book of Mormon approachable not only for Mormons themselves but also for religion scholars whose familiarity with LDS traditions may outweigh their knowledge of the scripture itself." — Jan Shipps, author of Mormonism: The Story of a New Religious Tradition

Under the Cope of Heaven Religion, Society, and Politics in Colonial America Updated Edition

PATRICIA U. BONOMI

In this pathbreaking study, Patricia Bonomi argues that religion was as instrumental as either politics or the economy in shaping early American life and values. In her new preface, Bonomi discusses how research in the field on African Americans, Indians, women, the Great Awakening, and the Atlantic world impact her interpretations.

Without Benefit of Clergy Women of the Pastoral Relationship in Nineteenth-Century American Culture

KARIN E. GEDGE

The common view of the nineteenth-century pastoral relationship, was that women and clergymen formed a natural alliance and enjoyed a particular influence over each other. The question that troubled religious women seeking counsel, says Gedge, was: would their minister respect them, help them, honor them? Surprisingly, she finds, the answer was frequently negative.

Invisible City The Architecture of Devotion in Seventeenth-Century Neapolitan Convents

HELEN HILLS

Helen Hills vividly portrays the religious world of seventeenth-century Naples, demonstrating how the architecture of the convents and the nuns' bodies they housed existed both in parallel and in opposition to one another. She discusses these women as subjects of enclosure, as religious women, and as art patrons, but also as powerful agents whose influence extended beyond the convent walls.

After Calvin Studies in the Development of a Theological Tradition

RICHARD A. MULLER

This is a sequel to Richard Muller's The Unaccommodated Calvin (OUP 2000). In the previous book, Muller attempted to situate Calvin's theological work in its historical context and to strip away various twentieth-century theological grids that have clouded our perceptions of the work of the Reformer. In the present book, Muller carries this approach forward, with the goal of overcoming a series of nineteenth- and twentieth-century theological frameworks characteristic of much of the scholarship on Reformed orthodoxy, or what might be called "Calvinism after Calvin."

THE ATHEIST
MADALYN MURRAY O'HAIR
Bryan F. LeBeau

“Le Beau provides a temperate and dispassionate account of the life of a woman who was seldom either.”
—Newsday

“A rewarding book.”—The Baltimore Sun

As founder of the American Atheists, Madalyn Murray O'Hair loudly and brashly challenged organized religion and its place in American society and government. Le Beau offers a penetrating assessment of the woman who led the battle against school prayer in the 1960's, and who, in 1964, was declared by Life magazine as “the most hated woman in America”—a title she wore like a badge of honor.

"Here is an essay collection that is thought-provoking and gives a sense of the breadth of Edwards' life and thought. There is something here for the specialist and the initiate to Edwards' writings, showing how those writings speak to the life of faith today. This is a wonderful manual for personal and church growth, both intellectual and spiritual."

Awards of the American Society of Church History:

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize, offered annually, is a subvention fund of $1,000 to assist a press in publishing a book-length manuscript in church history. The prize is limited to first books. The monetary grant will be made upon receipt of a commitment in writing from a publisher accepting the manuscript. Entries in their final form must be received by 1 November.

The Albert C. Outler Prize is an award in the amount of $1,000 to the author of the best book published in the two previous calendar years in ecumenical church history. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as concerned chiefly with problems of Christian unity and disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements in any historical period. Authors of eligible books or any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration; authors should submit a copy of the book. Nominations must be received by 1 March in even-numbered years.

The Philip Schaff Prize is an award in the amount of $1,000 to the author of the best book published in the two previous calendar years, originating in the North American scholarly community and presenting original research on any period in the history of Christianity. Authors of eligible books or any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration; authors should submit a copy of the book. Nominations must be received by 1 March in odd-numbered years.

The Jane Dempsey Douglass Prize is an annual award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best essay published during the previous calendar year on any aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. Authors of eligible articles and any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration. Nominations, accompanied if possible by a copy of the article, must be received by 1 August.

The Sidney E. Mead Prize, offered annually, is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent graduate whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted by 1 July.

A work may be submitted for only one ASCH competition. For more information, or to nominate a book or submit a manuscript, write to the American Society of Church History, P.O. Box 8517, Red Bank, NJ 07701.
