

Two new readers for the advanced student . . .

Learning Russian Through Humor

by Alexis Clement, Associate Professor of Russian
Los Angeles City College

An entertaining book of light Russian humor designed to make the study of the Russian language more attractive and enjoyable for the student. Each of the 45 dialogues culminates in a joke, anecdote, or short humorous story. Instead of the usual vocabulary system of word translation, the student is given translated phrases to provide for more fluent expression. Learning Russian Through Humor is geared toward teaching practical everyday conversational Russian and promoting classroom conversation and discussion.

Golden Age of Russian Literature

by Tanya Bobrinskoy, Instructor in Russian Marymount Manhattan College
St. Peter's College

Intended primarily for students at the intermediate level who have completed two semesters of formal instruction, have learned the elements of Russian grammar, and are able to read Russian with relative fluency. The Reader contains carefully chosen selections from seven of Russia's greatest writers—Pushkin, Lermontov, Gogol, Turgenev, Tolstoy, Dostoevski, and Chekhov. Each selection is preceded by a short biographical sketch, indicating the writer's principal works and place in literature. A complete glossary faces each page of the text (one that contains all but the most frequent words). The exceptional Reader fills a great need for the increasing number of students who have reached the intermediate level in Russian.

For your beginning classes in Russian we recommend either:

Basic Russian, Book I                      or                      Simplified Russian Grammar
Basic Russian, Book II

These books are the most widely used Russian language texts in the U.S.A.
