

Creating Regimes

Arctic Accords and International Governance

ORAN R. YOUNG

Oran R. Young weaves together theoretical issues relating to the formation of international regimes and substantive issues relating to the emergence of the Arctic as a distinct region in world affairs. 3 drawings, 2 graphs, 1 map. $35.00

The International Origins of the Federal Reserve System

J. LAWRENCE BROZ

Until the passage of the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, the United States had suffered under one of the most inefficient payment systems in the world – serious banking panics erupted frequently, and nominal interest rates fluctuated wildly. Probing the origins of this Act, J. Lawrence Broz finds that international factors were crucial to its conception and passage, and that to those who organized the political effort to pass the Act, the creation of the Federal Reserve System was first and foremost a response to international opportunities. 20 tables, 6 charts/graphs. $35.00

The Currency of Ideas

Monetary Politics in the European Union

KATHLEEN R. MCNAMARA

Why have the states of Europe agreed to create an Economic and Monetary Union (EMU) and a single European currency? What will decide the fate of this bold project? This book explains why monetary integration has deepened in Europe from the Bretton Woods era to the present day. CORNELL STUDIES IN POLITICAL ECONOMY. 9 tables, 7 charts/graphs. $29.95

Tamed Power

Germany in Europe

EDITED BY PETER J. KATZENSTEIN

Revolutionary changes in European politics have reawakened old fears that Europe will be dominated by an unpredictable German giant. The same changes have fueled new hopes for Germany and Europe as models of political pluralism. Yet Peter J. Katzenstein contends that a multilateral institutionalization of power is the most distinctive aspect of the relationship between Europe and Germany. 3 tables, $49.95 cloth, $19.95 paper

Negotiating the New Germany

Can Social Partnership Survive?

EDITED BY
LOWELL TURNER

The reunification of Germany in 1990 juxtaposed two very different models of industrial relations: West Germany with a largely collaborative relationship between business and labor, codified in law, and East Germany with a long-standing, authoritarian system. Would western-style social partnership spread to all of Germany, or would it find itself seriously destabilized? This volume assesses both models and the results of their union. Development Economics

Debraj Ray

The study of development in low-income countries is attracting more attention around the world than ever before. Yet until now there has been no comprehensive text that incorporates the huge strides made in the subject over the past decade. Development Economics does precisely that in a clear, rigorous, and elegant fashion. It will be the definitive textbook in this subject for years to come.

Cloth $55.00 ISBN 0-691-01706-9

“An elegant, insightful, and extremely effective textbook on development economics.”
—Amartya Sen, Harvard University

“The best textbooks spring from a coherent intellectual vision and a deeply felt passion. Development Economics is such a book.”
—Paul Romer, Stanford University

“Debraj Ray has written a splendid book that brings a unified intellectual framework to the myriad disparate topics that constitute development economics.”
—Angus Deaton, Princeton University

The International Spread of Ethnic Conflict

Fear, Diffusion, and Escalation

Edited by David A. Lake and Donald Rothchild

In this volume, David Lake and Donald Rothchild have organized an ambitious, sophisticated exploration of both the origins and spread of ethnic conflict, one that will be useful to policymakers and theorists alike.

"Scholarly, theoretical, and quantitative. It significantly advances the scholarly literature in the field and, in doing so, opens new prospects for policy analysis as well."

—Roy Licklider

The Myth of the Global Corporation

Paul N. Doremus, William W. Keller, Louis W. Pauly, and Simon Reich

There is widespread agreement today that multinational corporations are creating a global market, which is rendering national borders obsolete. Backed by a wealth of new evidence, the authors of this book argue persuasively that this belief is a myth. For anyone who is trying to make sense of the "global economy," this is essential reading.

"This is an important contribution to scholarship on the multinational firm and the subject of international political economy."—Robert Gilpin

Cloth $29.95 ISBN 0-691-03636-5

From Wealth to Power

The Unusual Origins of America's World Role

Fareed Zakaria

What turns rich nations into great powers? How do wealthy countries begin extending their influence abroad? In From Wealth to Power, Fareed Zakaria seeks to answer these questions by examining the most puzzling case of a rising power in modern history—that of the United States.

"The theory of state-centered realism set forth in From Wealth to Power is the most important innovation in years in foreign-policy theory."—Samuel P. Huntington

"Beautifully conceived; dazzlingly executed. . . ."—Kenneth N. Waltz

Changing Course

Ideas, Politics, and the Soviet Withdrawal from Afghanistan

Sarah E. Mendelson

Soviet foreign policy changed dramatically in the 1980s. In Changing Course, Sarah Mendelson demonstrates that both ideas and political strategies were needed to make reform happen.

"Mendelson does a brilliant job in capturing the political contingency central to the explanation of change. She offers a new conception, new interpretations, and original data based on an extraordinarily broad and comprehensive set of interviews."

WAR AND THE RED CROSS

The Unspoken Mission

Nicholas O. Berry

The face of war has changed and the Red Cross has taken on a new mission to make wars dysfunctional and to end them. Berry describes the Red Cross's strategy to confound those who wage wars and shows how it was put into operation in wars that raged in the former Yugoslavia, Rwanda, the Sudan, Afghanistan, and Guatemala.

Journal of European Integration

Revue d'Intégration Européenne

Executive Editor: Emil Kirchner

University of Essex, Department of Government, Wivenhoe Park, Colchester, CO4 3SQ

Tel: +44 (0)1206 872 749 • Fax: +44 (0)1206 873 598 • E-mail: emil@essex.ac.uk

The journal publishes articles with a focus on European integration and an interdisciplinary or multidisciplinary perspective, thus integrating politics, economics, law, history, and sociology. European integration is understood as pan-European rather than as merely the EU, though the bulk of contributions might be devoted to the latter. It occasionally presents comparative studies of federalism, other forms of regional integration, and articles dealing with EU external relations, whether in the trade or security policy field.

The main purpose of the journal is to serve a wide readership, which implies that articles should be of a general rather than a specific or specialized nature. In other words, whilst the emphasis should be on scholarly work (analysis rather than description), it should provide explanations regarding the process of integration in a historical and comparative fashion, and avoid specific or highly specialized writings.

All submissions will undergo a rigorous peer-group review process. Issues on exclusive subjects and non-specific issues are published in no particular order. Contributions are published in English or French.
