PREHOSPITAL and DISASTER MEDICINE

The Official Journal of
The World Association for Disaster and Emergency Medicine (WADEM) and the
Nordic Society of Disaster Medicine

Prehospital and Disaster Medicine is a peer-reviewed international medical journal devoted to the publication of Disaster and Humanitarian Medicine research and education. The principal mission of Prehospital and Disaster Medicine (PDM) is the distribution of information relevant to the practice of out-of-hospital and in-hospital emergency medical care, disaster medicine, and public health and safety. PDM provides an international forum for the reporting and discussion of scientific studies, both quantitative and qualitative, that have relevance to the above practices. Its major objectives are: (1) the improvement of the types and quality of the care delivered to patients with perceived medical emergencies and to victims of multi-casualty accidents or disasters, including the public health and safety aspects of such events; and (2) the prevention and/or mitigation of the occurrence of such events and of the effects of these events upon the human population and environment.

Bringing Simulation to Life

SimMan®

There is a growing awareness that health care is behind other high risk operations in its attention to ensuring basic safety and that there is a need to grasp the scale of the problem (1,2).

Use of patient simulation is considered an important part of the solution as many scenarios can be presented including uncommon but critical situations where a rapid response is needed. Errors can be allowed to occur and reach their conclusion without any risk to a patient. Team member interactions and leadership can also be explored and developed.

Two manikin-based simulators from Laerdal, SimMan® and AirMan®, represent a new generation of affordable and portable solutions to meet these needs.
