HOOVER INSTITUTION PRESS

The Stalinist Terror in the Thirties:

Documentation from the Soviet Press

Borys Levytsky. 1974. The book is comprised of 234 biographies of victims of Stalin's purges, analyses of the purges' effects on different professionals and a lengthy introduction that comments on both the purges and Khrushchev's rehabilitation campaign. It shows that key figures in all walks of life were eliminated by Stalin in his drive to consolidate his dictatorial power. P126. 525 p. Hard, $14.50

Herbert Hoover and Famine Relief to Soviet Russia: 1921-1923

Benjamin M. Weissman. 1974. Studies the interaction between the United States and Soviet Russia, and in particular between Herbert Hoover and Lenin, during Hoover's spectacularly successful relief mission to famine-stricken Russia in 1921-23. P134. 225 p. Hard, $7.95

The Soviet Union and the Middle East:

The Post-World War II Era

Ivo J. Lederer and Wayne S. Vucinich. 1974. This collection of essays from a conference held at Stanford University in 1969 shows the full extent of Soviet involvement in the Middle East since World War II. The articles are careful to place Soviet policy shifts in the context of changing political and ideological objectives. P133. 250 p. Hard, $9.95

Guide to Hungarian Studies

Elemer Bako. 1973. A bibliography of extensive and diversified material intended to provide a well-balanced, reliable, and practical tool for the English reading public, particularly scholars and college students.
