

Restoring Women to History:

Teaching Packets for Integrating Women's History into Courses on Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean, and the Middle East

This 500-page resource from the Organization of American Historians opens new avenues for teaching the history of women, and facilitates its integration into survey courses in a variety of social science and humanities fields. The packets synthesize current debates and research and include new topics for inquiry and study.

The teaching packets are organized into five sections:

- Thematic Introduction by co-editors Cheryl Johnson-Odim and Margaret Strobel
- Africa by Iris Berger and E. Frances White
- Asia by Barbara Ramusack and Sharon Sievers
- Latin America and the Caribbean by Marysa Navarro and Virginia Sanchez Korrol
- The Middle East by Guity Nashat and Judith Tucker

Walvis Bay

Decolonization and International Law

Lynn Berat

In this book Lynn Berat assesses the validity of each side's arguments in the Namibian-South African dispute over control of Walvis Bay and, in so doing, uses Walvis Bay as a case study to illuminate the changing nature of international law since the age of European imperialism.

"In view of the importance of Walvis Bay to an independent Namibia, this book is timely—some might even say overdue."—Isaak I. Dore

Resistance in Postcolonial African Fiction

Neil Lazarus

This discussion of the radical intellectualism of African writers of the postcolonial period focuses in particular on the work of the controversial Ghanaian novelist Ayi Kwei Armah.

"An important contribution to the scholarship of Armah and African literature."—Peter Nazareth $27.50

The History and Sociology of Genocide

Analyses and Case Studies

Frank Chalk and Kurt Jonassohn

In the first comprehensive survey of the history and sociology of genocide, Frank Chalk and Kurt Jonassohn present over two dozen examples of the one-sided mass slaughter of peoples, including accounts of the persecution of the Ndwande by Shaka Zulu, the Hereros of Southwest Africa by the Germans, and the Hutu by the Tutsi tribe of Burundi.

"Systematic, comprehensive and penetrating....A most impressive achievement."—Norman Cohn New in cloth ($50.00) and paper ($19.95) Published in cooperation with the Montreal Institute for Genocide Studies

Coups and Army Rule in Africa

Motivations and Constraints • Second Edition

Samuel Decalo

In a new edition of his provocative book, Decalo adds another case study, Niger, and provides a new section on the constraints of military rule.

"A clear-eyed and tough-minded analysis of why coups take place and how soldiers function as rulers."—Africa (on the first edition) New in cloth ($37.50) and paper ($17.95)

Making Algeria French Colonialism in Bône, 1870–1920 David Prochaska

This book relates the history of the pièdes noirs and Algerians in colonial Bône, renamed Annaba in 1962. Prochaska argues that in making Bône a European city the settlers effectively blocked social evolution, attempted to contain history, and thereby precluded any genuine rapprochement with Algerians in the twentieth century.

African Dissertation Internship Awards

Doctoral students from sub-Saharan Africa are invited to apply to The Rockefeller Foundation for dissertation research support. The program enables Ph.D. students enrolled in U.S. and Canadian universities to return to Africa for extensive field research in areas relevant to economic development or poverty alleviation. Priority is given to research topics in the fields of agriculture, health and life sciences, but other proposals are welcome.

Applicants are responsible for arranging affiliation with an African institution able to provide needed research support, such as laboratory facilities, access to study sites, and technical advice. The candidate's faculty advisor, the host institution in Africa, and the agency with primary responsibility for financing the student's graduate work must all send letters of endorsement.

Deadlines for applications are October 1, 1990, and March 1, 1991. Candidates should apply well in advance of the expected field work starting date.

For a full description of the competition and application requirements, write to:
