THE "B-Z" 9-Cylinder 220 H.P. PATENT ROTARY AERO-ENGINES (1918 Type).

Combine in a simple and reliable form all the essential requirements of the most up-to-date AERO ENGINES.

THE OUTSTANDING ADVANTAGES are:

1. Maintaining Power through Wide Range of Altitudes.—Simple mechanical scavenge and 25 per cent. greater suction volume and high volumetric efficiency result in 30 to 35 per cent. advantage.
2. Safety. (A unique feature).—It is Impossible for the B-Z (1918) Engines under any circumstances to back-fire.
3. Starting Facility.—Permit Pilot to start engine slow with complete safety and greatest ease, and to increase speed necessary for flight after he has taken his seat.
4. Flexibility.—Any given speed from 350 revs. to maximum without miss-firing or back-firing.
5. Economy.—Saving of 30 to 40 per cent. in oil consumption, made possible by perfect mechanical redistribution of oil under pressure.
6. Reliability.—Lubricating oil never reaches sparking plug, and perfect regularity of firing is maintained.
7. Simplicity.—The only "complete" engine with one valve per cylinder. Easy to manufacture, assemble and maintain. No inlet valves or piping, all connecting rods the same shape and length, fewest number of different parts.

Simplicity of Design means Greater Output.
