

THE LAW OF REAL PROPERTY

R. E. Megarry, Q.C., M.A., LL.D.(Cantab.), Hon.LL.D.(Hull)
A Bencher of Lincoln's Inn, Book Review Editor of The Law Quarterly Review ; Reader in Equity in the Inns of Court

H. W. R. Wade, LL.D., D.C.L.
of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law ; Professor of English in the University of Oxford

3rd Edition

As was said of the previous edition, "the book can be recommended, without reservation, both as the principal text book of every student of real property who aspires to more than a nutshell knowledge of his subject, and as a work of reference worthy of an accessible position on the practitioner's shelves".

The general plan of the work remains unaltered, but there has been a major change within that plan. In order to improve the speed of reference, and to make the contents more easily digestible, the system of sub-headings throughout the work has been revised and many of the longer passages have been sub-divided and sub-titled.

Oggers: Principles of Pleading and Practice in Civil Actions in the High Court of Justice

Giles Francis Harwood, M.A.
of the Inner Temple and Western Circuit, Barrister-at-Law

Basil Antony Harwood, M.A.
of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law ; Senior Master of the Supreme Court, and Queen's Remembrancer

19th Edition

"No one, student or practitioner (for this is one of those books which the student carries over into his practising days), can rely on the earlier editions, except, of course, for comparative purposes to examine the evolution of the subject," wrote a reviewer of the last edition (Modern Law Review).

These words are always in every way true of this new edition, which presents a comprehensive and authoritative explanation of the most up-to-date law for student and practitioner use.
