Ethnographic Sorcery

Harry G. West

"Ethnographic Sorcery is consistently fascinating, subtle, and deeply grounded in local understandings of a complex and ambiguous world and in anthropological theory, speaking with equal power to questions of representation, interpretation, and ethics. This is highly original work, something of a sui generis essay on long-term anthropological concerns that is at the same time totally fresh. Exceptionally stimulating, principled, and imaginative, West's book will have a broad and consequential readership for a long time to come."—Donald Brenneis, University of California, Santa Cruz

Paper $14.00

Worries of the Heart

Widows, Family, and Community in Kenya

Kenda Mutongi

"Mutongi has gotten under the skin of her material. . . . It is at once a literary and academic achievement."
—Binyavanga Wainaina

"This captivating book evokes the human experience of living under colonialism in rural East Africa better than any other study I can think of. Widows and their families are Mutongi's focus, but this is less a history of widows than it is a history of the twentieth century in the Maragoli district of western Kenya through widows' eyes."

—Charles Ambler, University of Texas at El Paso

Picturing a Colonial Past

The African Photographs of Isaac Schapera
Edited by John L. Comaroff,
Jean Comaroff, and Deborah James

"Jean and John Comaroff—Schapera's most outstanding successors—provide a scintillating and thought-provoking portrait of Schapera as ethnographer and photographer. This splendid volume will be a most valuable resource to anthropologists and historians and a source of illumination and enjoyment to readers interested in southern Africa."

—Shula Marks, School of Oriental and African Studies

"These spectacular photographs reveal a much more complex Schapera than his writings allow and provide a more complete and aesthetically charming supplement to his work."—Robert Gordon, University of Vermont

Paper $25.00

Beyond Words

Discourse and Critical Agency in Africa
Andrew Apter

"Responding to trenchant critiques of anthropology's complicity with colonialism and Eurocentric thought, Apter argues that these texts—of Dogon cosmological reflection, of Tswana praise poetry—be reread as critical reflection on power and authority, as vernacular criticism that was history-making rather than history-erasing and politics-averse."—Charles Piot, Duke University

"What I most appreciate about Apter's book is that it confronts anthropology's entrenched ambivalence about its traditional topics head on by revisiting classic studies and finding the value within them. This is novel and bold."—Deborah D. Kaspin, coeditor of Images and Empires

CLAIM TO THE COUNTRY

The Archive of Wilhelm Bleek and Lucy Lloyd

Pippa Skotnes

In the 1870s, facing cultural extinction and the death of their language, several San men and women told their stories to two pioneering colonial scholars in Cape Town, Wilhelm Bleek and Lucy Lloyd. The narratives of these San (or Bushmen) were of the land, the rain, the history of the first people, and the origin of the moon and stars. These narratives were faithfully recorded and translated by Bleek and Lloyd, creating an archive of more than 13,000 pages including drawings, notebooks, maps, and photographs. Pippa Skotnes, presents these in book form and on an accompanying DVD. Essays by well-known scholars and a searchable index are included.

392 pages, illus., hc $65

THE SACRED DOOR AND OTHER STORIES

Cameroon Folktales of the Beba

Makuchi

Foreword by Isidore Okpewho

This collection of thirty-three folktales of the Beba showcases a variety of stories that capture the richness and complexities of an agrarian society's oral literature and traditions.

176 pages, pb $16.95

FIGHTING THE GREATER JIHAD

Amadu Bamba and the Founding of the Muridiyya of Senegal, 1853–1913

Cheikh Anta Babou

An astute analysis of the founding and development of the Muridiyya, a large Islamic Sufi order, and a biographical study of its founder, Cheikh Amadu Bamba Mbacke.

320 pages, illus., hc $55.00, pb $26.95

COLD WAR AND DECOLONIZATION IN GUINEA, 1946–1958

Elizabeth Schmidt

In September 1958, Guinea claimed its independence, rejecting a constitution that would have relegated it to junior partnership in the French Community. Cold War and Decolonization in Guinea argues that Guinea's vote for independence was the culmination of a decade-long struggle between local militants and political leaders for control of the political agenda.

CULTIVATING SUCCESS IN UGANDA

Kigezi Farmers and Colonial Policies

Grace Carswell

Grace Carswell presents a comprehensive study of livelihoods in Kigezia, in southwestern Uganda, that is exceptional in many ways. In contrast to many other parts of the colonial world, this district did not adopt cash crops. Soil conservation practices were successfully adopted, and the region maintained a remarkably developed and individualized land market from the early colonial period.

400 pages, pb $26.95

CONSTRUCTIVE ENGAGEMENT?

Chester Crocker & American Policy in South Africa, Namibia & Angola, 1981–1988

J. E. Davies

Davies offers a critical evaluation of one of the best-known examples of constructive engagement—the Reagan administration's policy toward South Africa.

256 pages, hc $59.95, pb $26.95

BUTTERFLIES & BARBARIANS

Swiss Missionaries and Systems of Knowledge in South-East Africa

Patrick Harries

Swiss missionaries played a primary and little-known role in explaining Africa to the literate world. This book emphasizes how these European intellectuals, brought to the deep rural areas of southern Africa by their vocation, formulated and ordered knowledge about the continent.

304 pages, illus., hc $59.95, pb $26.95

AFRICAN SACRED GROVES

Ecological Dynamics and Social Change

Edited by Celia Nyamweru and Michael J. Sheridan

This interdisciplinary book by an international group of scholars and conservation practitioners provides a framework for understanding these forests by examining their ecological characteristics, social dynamics, historical contexts, ideological aspects, and cultural and biological diversity.

240 pages, illus., hc $59.95, pb $26.95
