The International Labour Law Reports is a series of annual publications of labour law judgments by the highest courts in a number of jurisdictions.

I.L.L.R. is intended primarily for the use of judges, labour law practitioners, industrial relations specialists and students who need or desire ready access to authoritative information of a comparative nature on problems arising in the field of labour law and industrial relations.

Each judgment reprinted in I.L.L.R. is accompanied by Headnotes and in practically all cases by an Annotation which sets forth, among other things, the legal issues involved, the basic facts of the case (if not included in the judgment itself), the relevant statutory provisions and judicial precedents, the labour law and industrial relations context in which the case arose and the significance of the judgment in the development of the law. The I.L.L.R. provide the reader with factual information that is not coloured by the personal views of the annotators. As a rule, judgments are printed in extenso; editorial discretion has been relied upon to delete or to summarize portions of judgments that are purely technical or of only marginal interest. This series unquestionably fills a void in the field of comparative labour law.
