

A Democracy in the Balance

New in Paperback

“Eloquent. . . . An indispensable, closely argued, and conditionally apocalyptic book. . . . Gorenberg tells us that the Israel of the mainstream American, Leon Uris-influenced imagination is not the Israel of today’s reality.”

—Jeffrey Goldberg,
The New York Times Book Review

“At the core of the book lies a terrifying analogy: Israel as Pakistan, a country whose government has empowered a lawless, fanatical religious movement now subverting the very state that empowered it. Is the analogy apt today? No, but Gorenberg makes a frighteningly convincing case that it might be soon.”

—Peter Beinart, Newsweek

“[Gorenberg’s] book is solidly researched and elegantly argued. It combines history and analysis, love and anger. Somehow, it avoids moralism. If you read one book on Israel, this should be it. . . . This calm, sane voice—this belief in reason and freedom, in power and responsibility, in possibility—are among Gorenberg’s greatest gifts to the reader.”

ABOUT CIRS

Established in 2005, the Center for International and Regional Studies at the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service in Qatar is a premier research institute devoted to the academic study of regional and international issues through dialogue and exchange of ideas, research and scholarship, and engagement with scholars, opinion makers, practitioners, and activists.

CIRS RESEARCH INITIATIVES

The State and Innovation in the Persian Gulf

This initiative looks at how regional states foster technical and scientific innovation in their societies to bring about knowledge-based, post-oil economies. Grants will be available for this project.

Politics and the Media in the Post-Arab Spring Middle East

This project explores the role of traditional and new media during and after the Arab Spring.

Arab Migrant Communities in the GCC

CIRS examines the communities of migrants and other temporary residents from across the Arab world. Grants will be available for this project.

Weak States in the Middle East

This project examines the causes and consequences of the fragility of states from Iraq in the east to Sudan and Libya in the west.

Social Change in Post-Khomeini Iran

Through this initiative, CIRS examines the political consequences of social change in Iran in the last two decades.

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

Visiting Scholar

The position is open to mid- and senior-level scholars in any discipline working on any area of the Middle East, with priority given to those working on issues related to the Persian Gulf.

Post-Doctoral Fellow

CIRS offers opportunities for recent PhD recipients in all disciplines working on the area of the Middle East, with priority given to those working on the Persian Gulf.

CIRS Grants

To contribute to the existing body of knowledge on issues related to the Gulf region and the Middle East, CIRS funds empirically-based, original research projects on a variety of solicited topics.

Books

At the conclusion of every research initiative, CIRS publishes the participants' research in an edited volume.

CALL FOR PAPERS

CIRS invites manuscript submissions for its Occasional Paper series. Papers dealing with issues of relevance to the Persian Gulf are accepted from all disciplines.

Palestine and the Arab-Israeli Conflict A History with Documents

Eighth Edition

Charles D. Smith, University of Arizona

Palestine and the Arab-Israeli Conflict provides a comprehensive, balanced, and accessible narrative of a complex historical topic. The narrative is supported by more than 40 primary documents that highlight perspectives from all sides of the struggle. Throughout the book, the author examines how underlying issues, group motives, religious and cross-cultural clashes, diplomacy and imperialism, and the arrival of the modern era shaped this volatile region. Maps, photographs, chronologies, and discussion questions help facilitate student understanding. And a fully updated final chapter makes this the most current history of the topic.

“Smith’s book is the gold standard for texts on the Palestine-Israel and Arab-Israeli conflicts. It is rich in detail and carefully argued. The language is accessible and well supplemented by generous illustrations and maps.”

— Joel Gordon, University of Arkansas

The Black radical imagination and the Muslim Third World

In Black Star, Crescent Moon, Sohail Daulatzai maps the rich, shared history between Black Muslims, Black radicals, and the Muslim Third World, showing how Black artists and activists imagined themselves as part of a global majority, connected to larger communities of resistance.

"The book is a stunning achievement and Daulatzai reveals an intellectual virtuosity and originality few can match. His formulation of a 'Muslim International' alone compels us to rethink Muslim Third World opposition and its relationship to the black freedom struggle."

—Robin D. G. Kelley

The Princeton Encyclopedia of Islamic Political Thought

Edited by Gerhard Bowering

Patricia Crone, Wadad Kadi, Devin J. Stewart, Muhammad Qasim Zaman, associate editors

Mahan Mirza, assistant editor

The first encyclopedia of Islamic political thought from the birth of Islam to today, this comprehensive, authoritative, and accessible reference provides the context needed for understanding contemporary politics in the Islamic world and beyond. With more than 400 alphabetically arranged entries written by an international team of specialists, the volume focuses on the origins and evolution of Islamic political ideas and related subjects, covering central terms, concepts, personalities, movements, places, and schools of thought across Islamic history.

DESCRIPTION

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a private, non-profit, non-political learned society that brings together scholars, educators and those interested in the study of the region from all over the world. From its inception in 1966 with 50 founding members, MESA has increased its membership to more than 2,600 and now serves as an umbrella organization for more than sixty institutional members and forty-two affiliated organizations. The association is a constituent society of the American Council of Learned Societies, the National Council of Area Studies Associations, and a member of the National Humanities Alliance. As part of its goal to advance learning, facilitate communication and promote cooperation, MESA sponsors an annual meeting that is a leading international forum for scholarship, intellectual exchange and pedagogical innovation. It is responsible for the International Journal of Middle East Studies, the premiere journal on the region, the Review of Middle East Studies, and a quarterly newsletter. An awards program recognizes scholarly achievement, service to the profession, and exemplary students. MESA is governed by a nine-member Board of Directors elected by the membership.

MESA is a nonprofit corporation with tax exempt status. Contributions to the Association are deductible under both U.S. Federal and British income tax regulations.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a non-political association that fosters the study of the Middle East, promotes high standards of scholarship and teaching, and encourages public understanding of the region and its peoples through programs, publications and services that enhance education, further intellectual exchange, recognize professional distinction, and defend academic freedom.
