

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

H.J. de Graaf is author of a number of well-known Indonesian histories, including Geschiedenis van Indonesie.

The late A.H. Hill was sometime Headmaster of Victoria Institution, Kuala Lumpur, and subsequently Lecturer in Malay at the University of Sydney.

Sartono Kartodirdjo is Head of the Department of History, Gadjarda Mada University, Djokjakarta.

Justus M. van der Kroef is Professor of Political Science at the University of Bridgeport, Conn., U.S.A.

Syed Hussein Alatas is currently engaged in research into the history of the Malacca Sultanate.

R.S. Milne is Professor of Political Science at the University of Singapore.

Frank C. Darling is Assistant Professor at the University of Colorado.

Nicholas Tarling is Lecturer in History in the University of Queensland.

Amongst the Reviewers are: D.T. Blake, Lecturer in economics, University of Singapore; J.D. Legge, professor of History, Monash University; P.J. Honey, lecturer in Vietnamese, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London; Holden Furber, associate professor of history, University of Pennsylvania; S. Arasaratnam, lecturer in India Studies, University of Malaya; and Kung-chuan Hsiao, author of Rural China: Imperial Control in the Nineteenth Century.