A STATEMENT OF EDITORIAL POLICY*

PMLA publishes articles on the modern languages and literatures which are of significant interest to the entire membership of the Association. Articles should therefore normally: (1) employ a widely applicable approach or methodology; or (2) use an interdisciplinary approach of importance to the interpretation of literature; or (3) treat a broad subject or theme; or (4) treat a major author or work; or (5) discuss a minor author or work in such a way as to bring insight to a major author, work, genre, period, or critical method.

Any member of the Association may submit papers to PMLA. Each paper submitted will be sent to at least one consultant reader and one member of the Advisory Committee. If recommended by these readers, it will be forwarded to the Editor and the Editorial Board for final decision.

PMLA does not normally publish articles of fewer than 2,500 or more than 12,500 words. Articles submitted should be in English, well written, and accompanied by an abstract on the standard form obtainable from the Editor.

Manuscripts, prepared according to the second edition of the MLA Style Sheet, should be addressed to the Editor of PMLA, 62 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10011. Only the original is needed by the editorial staff, but a copy should be retained by the author.

* New Editorial Policy, to which papers submitted after 1 March 1973 must adhere. Papers appearing in the current issue continue to reflect the former policy, for which see any issue prior to March 1973.
