Law & Society Review Condensed Style Sheet

Type manuscripts double-spaced on one side of the paper only. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include an abstract, footnotes, and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the authors to conform to the Review's style. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult Review issues in volume 26 or later for further illustrations. A detailed style sheet is available from the Editorial Office.

- 1. Abstracts. All manuscripts should include an abstract of not more than 100 words. No abstracts are required for review essays or comments.
- 2. Footnotes. Footnotes should be numbered sequentially (except for the author's footnote) and printed on pages immediately following the text (not at the foot of the page). They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.
- 3. Tables and Figures. Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready; provide originals, not xerographic copies. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes, appendixes, and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

4. Citations. All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. For example:

In a thoughtful essay, Hayden (1991) . . .

OR

Media stories often portray the civil jury as generous (Daniels & Martin 1986:236; Hans 1989: Huber 1988).

The same general rules apply to footnote text.

5. References. References are placed at the end of the manuscript following the footnotes. The list should contain only those sources actually cited in text or notes. Give authors' names as they appear in the original source. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in chronological order, with the older item first. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small (lower-case) letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a, 1970b).

BOOKS: Last Name, First Name (year) Title of Book. City: Publisher.

Example: Lerner, Melvin J. (1980) Belief in a Just World. New York: Plenum.

CHAPTER IN EDITED VOLUME:

Example: Glazer, Nathan (1979) ""The Judiciary and Social Policy," in L. Theberge, ed., The Judiciary in a Democratic Society. Lexington, MA: Lexington Books.

ARTICLES: Last Name, First Name (Year) ""Title of Article," volume number Journal page numbers of article. (Give month or issue number if each issue is separately paginated.)

Examples: Padgett, John F. (1990) ""Plea Bargaining in Prohibition," 24 Law & Society Rev. 413–50.

Brill, Steven, & James Lyons ((1986) ""The Not-So-Simple Crisis," American Lawyer 12–15 (May).

UNPUBLISHED PAPERS:

Example: Lofquist, William S. (1991) ""The Development of Organizational Probation." Presented at American Society of Criminology annual meeting, San Francisco.

All cases cited in text are listed under ""Cases Cited" following the References. All statutes cited are listed under ""Statutes Cited." For style for cases and statutes, see A Uniform System of Citation.

SEEKING NOMINATIONS FOR YEAR 2000

HARRY KALVEN PRIZE

The Harry Kalven Prize is awarded by the Law and Society Association for empirical scholarship that has contributed most effectively to the advancement of research in law and society. It is not a book prize, but is given in recognition of a body of scholarly work. Neither is it a "career achievement" award, however, and at least some portion of the work for which the award is given should have been completed within the past few years. The Prize consists of $500, and a certificate.

The committee to select the year 2000 recipient of the award includes Patricia Ewick, chair (Clark University), Roger Berkowitz (University of California, Berkeley); Craig McEwen (Bowdoin College), Thomas Russell (University of Texas, Austin), Neil Vidmar (Duke University), and Susan White (University of New Hampshire).

Nominations of candidates or suggestions for the committee's consideration should be sent to:

Patricia Ewick
Chair, Kalven Prize Committee
Department of Sociology
Clark University
950 Main Street
Worcester MA 01610

Documentation concerning the significance and contributions of the research, including citations to publications, will assist the committee in its consideration of candidates. Nominations should be received by March 1, 2000. The award will be presented in May, 2000 at Annual Meeting of the Association in Miami, Florida.

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR YEAR 2000

J. WILLARD HURST PRIZE

The Hurst Prize Committee of the Law and Society Association seeks nominations suggestions for works appropriate for the 2000 prize. The Hurst prize is given for the best work in American socio-legal history published between January 1998 and December 1999. In the spirit of Willard Hurst's own work, the committee will consider works on the history of interrelationships between law and social, economic, and political change; the history of functions and impact of legal agencies, legislative and administrative as well as judicial; the social history of the legal profession; and similar topics. Although the prize is for American legal history, significant comparative work that sheds light on American history will also be considered. The submission of purely doctrinal studies of the evolution of appellate case law is, however, discouraged. Preference in making the award will normally be given to books; but articles and monographs of exceptional quality will also be considered. The Prize includes a cash award of $500. Nominations should be received by December 31, 1999.

The committee includes Gregory S. Alexander, (chair) Cornell University; Christine DeSan, Harvard University; Sarah Gordon, University of Pennsylvania; Robert Gordon, Yale University; and Ariela Gross, University of Southern California. Recommendations and/or books suggested for the committee's consideration should be sent to:

Professor Gregory S. Alexander Chair, Hurst Prize Committee School of Law Cornell University Myron Taylor Hall Ithaca NY 14853

The award will be presented in May, 2000 at the Annual Meeting of the Association in Miami, Florida.

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

HERBERT JACOB BOOK PRIZE, 2000

The Association seeks nominations for the Law and Society Association's Herbert Jacob Book Prize, to be awarded for the outstanding law and society book published in the years 1998 and 1999. This is a biennial award established in 1996 and named in honor of Herbert Jacob in 1997. Herbert Jacob was a creative, energetic scholar who took on a wide variety of questions and issues, and whose work is a major contribution to the field.

The competition is open to books from all fields of, and approaches to, law and society scholarship – excluding only works of American legal history (which are recognized by the Association's Hurst Prize). The prize includes a cash award of $500 (shared in the case of multiple awardees) and will be presented next May at the 2000 Annual Meeting of the Law and Society Association.

The prize committee includes Marjorie Zatz, chair (Arizona State University), John Brigham (University of Massachusetts, Amherst), Susan Lawrence (Rutgers University), Michael Saks (University of Iowa), and Lisa Sanchez (University at Buffalo, SUNY).

Nominations should be received by January 1, 2000.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

2000 LSA ARTICLE PRIZE

The Association seeks nominations for the Law and Society Association Article Prize. This biennial prize is intended to recognize an outstanding work in law and society scholarship published in a major sociolegal journal. Nominations are appropriate from all aspects of the field and any country of origin, although article copies submitted to the committee must be in English. The range may include articles of younger scholars and works that are part of long careers in law and society research and publication.

The prize committee includes Roger Cotterrell, chair (University of London), Elizabeth Chambliss (University of Denver), Hendrik Hartog (Princeton University), Arthur Stinchcombe (Northwestern University), Carl Stychin (University of Reading), and Takao Tanase (Kyoto University). The committee welcomes nominations and suggestions of articles published in 1998 and 1999.

Nominations should be received by January 14, 2000. The prize carries a cash award of $500 and will be given at the 2000 Annual Meeting of the Association in Miami, Florida. Recommendations and/or reprints of articles suggested for the committee's consideration should be sent to:

GRADUATE and LAW STUDENT AWARD

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS FOR YEAR 2000

The Law and Society Association is seeking nominations for its Graduate and Law Student Award which will be presented at the Association's Annual Meeting in Miami, Florida in May, 2000. The award will be offered to the nominated graduate or law student paper that best represents outstanding law and society research. Submissions should be of a length and style suitable for publication in a scholarly journal. Papers that have been excerpted from dissertations should be revised to stand alone; that is, they should include a clear account of the theory, methods and data (as appropriate) upon which the excerpt is based. The prize includes $100 cash and up to $400 toward travel cost to attend the 2000 Law and Society Annual Meeting.

We seek to expand the pool of submissions, and we urge you to send along graduate and law papers you admire. Specifically, we ask you to recall outstanding work you have read last academic year, as well as papers you will receive this semester. Papers that have already been published are eligible for the award. We intend to be inclusive of all work that examines law in culture and society including social scientific, interpretive, historical and jurisprudential scholarship.

To Have a Student's Work Considered for the Award: 1. A non-student member of the Law and Society Association must make the nomination. @. The paper should have been written between September 1998 and January 2000 by matriculated graduate or law students at any (U.S. or non-U.S.) institution of higher education. 3. The paper must be submitted to the Committee on Student Awards. The Committee includes Mia Cahill, chair (New York University), Malcolm Feeley (University of California, Berkeley), Janet Rifkin (University of Massachusetts, Amherst), and John Paul Ryan (American Bar Association). 4. The paper must be submitted by the deadline, February 1, 2000 to:

DISSERTATION AWARD, 2000

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

The Law and Society Association invites nominations for its annual Dissertation Award. The award is presented to the author of the best dissertation in the law and society field. The winner will receive a certificate, $100 cash prize, and up to $400 for travel to attend the Association's Annual Meeting in Miami in May to receive the award.

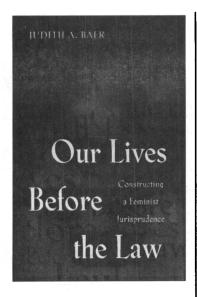

The Dissertation Committee members are John Gilliom, chair (Ohio University), Sara Cobb (Harvard University), Mathieu Deflem (Purdue University), Charles Epp (University of Kansas), Valerie Jenness (University of California, Irvine), and Noga Morag-Levine (University of Michigan).

Submissions should be outstanding examples of research on issues arising in the law and society field. A submission must be nominated by a faculty member. The dissertation may be based upon research that is interdisciplinary. Models of such work can be found in the Law & Society Review and other leading journals of research. The committee welcomes international submissions and nontraditional research. Dissertations completed in calendar year 1999 are eligible for consideration.

Send four copies of the dissertation together with a faculty member's nomination letter by January 7, 2000 to:

Our Lives Before the Law

Constructing a Feminist Jurisprudence Judith A. Baer

According to Judith Baer, feminist legal scholarship today does not effectively address the harsh realities of women's lives. The traditional feminist approach has led to endless debates about such abstract matters as character differences between men and women, and has failed to deal sufficiently with concrete problems with the legal system. Feminists have marginalized themselves, she argues, by withdrawing from mainstream intellectual discourse. In Our Lives Before the Law, Baer presents the framework for a new feminist jurisprudence—one that would return feminism to relevance.

Powerfully and passionately written, Our Lives Before the Law will have a major impact on the future course of feminist legal scholarship.

PROBLEMATICS OF MORAL AND LEGAL THEORY

RICHARD A. POSNER

Posner characterizes the current preoccupation with moral and constitutional theory as the latest form of legal mystification—an evasion of the real need of American law, which is for a greater understanding of the social, economic, and political facts out of which great legal controversies arise. In pursuit of that understanding, Posner advocates a rebuilding of the law on the pragmatic basis of open-minded and systematic empirical inquiry and the rejection of cant and nostalgia—the true professionalism foreseen by Holmes a century ago.

Unwarted

The Culture of Intimidation and the Failure of Law STEPHEN J. SCHULHOFER

"[Schulhofer] leaves no stone unturned in addressing the question of how to create a law which will take seriously sexual autonomy—the right to choose freely whether and when to be sexually intimate with another person. He argues that unlike laws that provide for comprehensive protection for property rights, labour and other important interests, laws on sexual autonomy have failed: from the excessive degree of force needed for an action to be defined as rape, to the grey areas in which coercion and exploitation can be used to elicit a false, legally valid 'consent' between, for example, professionals—such as doctors, lecturers, lawyers and therapists and their clients or students. Schulhofer calls for a radical reconstruction of such laws [and] does not shirk difficult questions... This is an insightful and scholarly book written in an accessible style rarely encountered in law. Even rarer is Schulhofer's willingness to debate feminist views in a balanced and enlightened way."
