The Zeitschrift für antikes Christentum / Journal of Ancient Christianity (ZAC) is an academic journal which aims at encouraging dialogue between church history, or historical scholarship on religion, and classical scholarship on antiquity in all its subdisciplines (classical and Christian-oriental philology, ancient history, classical and Christian archeology, as well as the history of ancient philosophy and religion).

It is therefore designed for those who do research or study in these areas, especially for those who deal with ancient Christianity.

In all these efforts the Journal is aware of its debt to the program of Hans Lietzmann (1875-1942), yet also to the tradition of French and Anglo-Saxon research on the history of ancient Christianity.

A New Chapter in New Testament Studies

ABINGDON NEW TESTAMENT COMMENTARIES

"The fundamental aim of this series will have been attained if its readers are assisted, not only to understand more about the origins, character, and meaning of the New Testament writings, but also to enter into their own informed and critical engagement with the biblical texts themselves."

— Victor Paul Furnish, General Editor

"Very clearly focused with regard to its audience, its aim, its structure, and its admirably modest size. . . . These commentaries will certainly have a market in Europe as well, among students and others who do not work directly on the Greek New Testament but need authoritative, up-to-date, and accessible introductions to the New Testament writings."

— Troels Engberg-Pedersen, Professor of New Testament, Copenhagen University, Denmark

INTERPRETING
I · B · T
BIBLICAL TEXTS

Theology & Ethics in Paul and His Interpreters, edited by Eugene H. Lovering and Jerry L. Sumney. Honoring Victor Paul Furnish's contribution to Pauline studies, this volume examines historical and contemporary interpretations of Pauline ethics. 0-687-00767-4. Paper, $19.95

The Gospel of Matthew, by Donald Senior. This volume in the Interpreting Biblical Texts series provides an up-to-date introduction to the Gospel of Matthew. It examines modern biblical scholarship and offers a structured guide to effective study of the first Gospel. 0-687-00848-4. Paper, $18.95

The Letters of Paul, by Charles B. Cousar. Presenting the best of recent Pauline scholarship, this volume in the Interpreting Biblical Texts series offers a compelling interpretation of the theological themes found in Paul's letters. 0-687-00852-2. Paper, $15.95

An Introduction to the Gospels, by Mitchell G. Reddish. This volume discusses the origin, development, and interrelationships of the Four Gospels. After examining each canonical Gospel and the non-canonical Gospels, the work addresses the "historical Jesus" debate. 0-687-00448-9. Paper, $19.95
