

advances

in psychiatric treatment

From the Editor

- 157 Concordance
Joe Bouch

Editorial

- 158 Different laws, same principles: mental health and incapacity legislation across the UK
Donald Lyons

Articles

- 161 Definitions and criteria: the 2007 amendments to the Mental Health Act 1983
Tim Branton & Guy Brookes
- 168 Psychiatric and behavioural manifestations of Huntington's disease
Sameer Jauhar & Stuart Ritchie
- 176 Hostage-taking: motives, resolution, coping and effects
David A. Alexander & Susan Klein
- 184 Supervised case experience in supportive psychotherapy: suggestions for trainers
Navjot Bedi & Helena Vassiliadis
- 193 Diminished responsibility and alcohol
Nuwan Galappathie & Krishma Jethwa
- 199 The European Convention on Human Rights: an update on Article 3 case law
Martin Curtice
- 207 Resisting psychotropic medicines: a synthesis of qualitative studies of medicine-taking
Nicky Britten, Ruth Riley & Myfanwy Morgan
- 219 Group cognitive-behavioural therapy for anxiety and depression
Graeme Whitfield
- 228 Sensory impairment and intellectual disability
Reza Kiani & Helen Miller

In other words

- 192 'A crisis in my mental history', from *Autobiography
John Stuart Mill

Cover image

© iStockphoto/Philippa Banks. Sensory (visual and hearing) impairment has significant detrimental impact on sociocognitive and language development. Kiani & Miller (pp. 228–235) discuss the importance of early detection and management of sensory impairment in people with intellectual disability.

<http://apt.rcpsych.org>

ISSN 1355-5146