Introducing a new journal...

Nations and Nationalism

Journal of the Association for the Study of Ethnicity and Nationalism

Editors

Anthony D. Smith, London School of Economics, Obi Igwara, University of Leeds, Kelvin Knight, University of North London, Athena Leoussi, University of Reading, Brendan O'Duffy, London School of Economics

Nationalism is the central issue of the modern world. Since the demise of the Soviet Union there has been a proliferation of nationalist and ethnic conflicts. The consequent explosion of interest in nationalism has created an urgent need for systematic study in this field. Nations and Nationalism aims to satisfy this need. The journal is published three times a year and includes original studies – theoretical, empirical, historical and philosophical – of a range of issues in the field, together with review articles and book reviews. Special issues highlight subjects and areas of current interest. The journal covers all areas of the world.

Coverage includes:

- Theories of nationalism
- History and national identity
- Language and nationalism
- Religion and nationalism
- Class and nationalism
- Race and nationalism
- Gender and nationalism
- Democracy and multinational states
- Post-modernity and the nation
- Space and nationalism
- Mass media and nationalism
- Art and nationalism
- Imperialism and nationalism
- Secession and irredentism
- Nation states and international society

Subscription

Nations and Nationalism is published in March, July and November. Volume 2, 1996 is £59 for institutions; £36 for individuals; airmail is £14 per year extra. Special arrangements exist for Association for the Study of Ethnicity and Nationalism members. ISSN 1354-5078

New in Caribbean Studies...

Persistent Underdevelopment

Change and Economic Modernization
In the West Indies

by Jay R. Mandle

Colgate University, Hamilton, New York, USA

This book examines the post-emancipation and recent economic history of the Commonwealth Caribbean while offering an explanation of the region's continuing underdevelopment. Through the use of an analytical framework derived from the works of Marx and Kuznets, the author focuses attention on technological change as the driving force behind economic modernization, and points the way to policies that would enable the Caribbean to escape its current poverty and become an effective participant in world markets.

The Social Roles of Sport in Caribbean Societies

Edited by Michael Malec

Boston College, Massachusetts, USA

For the first time, a single book looks at the political, social, economic and cultural effects that sports such as baseball, soccer, basketball, and cricket have on today's modern Caribbean society. This collection of essays by authors from various disciplines paints an interesting and timely portrait of sports by examining their function in Caribbean society. Social Role of Sport in Caribbean Societies discusses not only the cultural aspects of Caribbean sports but their economic and political impact as well.
