

Where There Is No Psychiatrist

*To Abebaw, William and Abraham
To Gauri and Farai*

Where There Is No Psychiatrist

Vikram Patel and Charlotte Hanlon

RCPsych Publications

© The Royal College of Psychiatrists 2017. The book is published under the terms of the Creative Commons Non-Commercial, No Derivatives (CC BY-NC-ND) license. It can be downloaded and shared with others as long as the authors and publisher are credited and provided the parts reproduced are not distributed for profit. Other uses such as translations or adaptations are encouraged, but permission must first be obtained from the publisher. Please contact permissions@rcpsych.ac.uk.

RCPsych Publications is an imprint of the Royal College of Psychiatrists,
21 Prescot Street, London E1 8BB
<http://www.rcpsych.ac.uk>

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reprinted or reproduced or utilised in any form or by any electronic, mechanical, or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publishers.

British Library Cataloguing-in-Publication Data.

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

ISBN 978-1-909726-83-3

The views presented in this book do not necessarily reflect those of the Royal College of Psychiatrists, and the publishers are not responsible for any error of omission or fact.

The Royal College of Psychiatrists is a charity registered in England and Wales (228636) and in Scotland (SC038369).

Printed by Bell & Bain Limited, Glasgow, UK.

The second edition of this widely used manual has been made freely available as an eBook thanks to donations from The Centre For Applied Research and Evaluation International Foundation (Careif), the British Indian Psychiatric Association (BIPA) and supporters of the Royal College of Psychiatrists.

Careif is an international mental health charity that works towards protecting and promoting mental health and resilience, eliminating inequalities and strengthening social justice. Its principles include working creatively with humility and dignity, and with balanced partnerships in order to ensure all cultures and societies play their part in their mission to protect and promote mental health and wellbeing. It does this by respecting the traditions of all world societies, whilst believing traditions can evolve, for even greater benefit to individuals and society.

Careif believes that knowledge should not only be available to those with wealth or those who live in urban and industrialised parts of the world. It considers knowledge-sharing to be a basic human right, where this knowledge can change lives and help realise true human potential regardless of their geographical location. Furthermore, there is substantial knowledge to be found in the less developed, rural and poorer areas of the world and this is valuable to the wellbeing of people in areas which are wealthier.

www.careif.org

BIPA works to protect and promote good health among people with mental illness or intellectual disability, particularly – but not exclusively – among those from black and minority ethnic communities.

bipa.org.uk

