Information for Authors

The purpose of the Canadian Journal of Philosophy is the publication in Canada of philosophical work of high quality, in English or French, and in any field of philosophy. All submissions are given blind editorial review; those of departmental colleagues are externally refereed.

Manuscripts should be sent in triplicate to: Executive Secretary, Canadian Journal of Philosophy, Department of Philosophy, University of Lethbridge, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada T1K 3M4. It is preferred that manuscripts be typed double-spaced, including quotes and footnotes. In general, the Canadian Journal of Philosophy follows The University of Chicago Manual of Style. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and assembled on separate pages at the end of the manuscript. Manuscripts should be prepared for blind review, which means they should contain no self-identifying references in either text or footnotes. Manuscripts will not be returned unless return postage is prepaid by cheque, money-order, reply coupons, or Canadian stamps.

Authors will receive, without charge, 25 copies of their articles. Additional offprints may be ordered when the proofs are returned to the publisher.

The articles in CJP are indexed in The Philosophers' Index, Bowling Green, Ohio, USA, the Répertoire bibliographique de la philosophie, Louvain, Belgium, The Modern Language Association Directory of Periodicals, the Humanities Index, and the Canadian Periodical Index.

All enquiries of an editorial nature should be directed to the Executive Secretary at the above address.

Avis aux auteurs

The Canadian Journal of Philosophy a pour objet la publication canadienne, en langues anglaise ou française, d'études philosophiques de haut niveau, quel que soit le domaine philosophique auxquelles elles appartiennent. Les communications sont évaluées dans l'anonymat de leurs auteurs; celles que soumettent les collègues départementaux sont référées à un comité de lecture extérieur.

Les manuscrits, en triple exemplaire, doivent être adressés à La Secrétaire à la Rédaction. Canadian Journal of Philosophy, University of Lethbridge, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada T1K 3M4. Soumettre de préférence des manuscrits (citations et notes comprises) dactylographiés à double interligne, en prenant pour guide, dans la mesure du possible, The University of Chicago Manual of Style. Les notes doivent suivre la numérotation continue et figurer sur des feuilles indépendantes en annexe au manuscrit. Les textes non insérés ne sont rendus qu'en cas de prépaiement des frais de poste par chèque, mandat, coupons-réponse, ou timbres canadiens.

Les auteurs reçoivent gratuitement 25 tirés-à part de leur article. Ils sont priés, s'ils désirent en obtenir un plus grand nombre à titre onéreux, en informer l'imprimeur lors de renvoi des épreuves.

Les articles du CJP sont catalogués dans The Philosophers' Index, Bowling Green, Ohio, E-U, le Répertoire bibliographique de la philosophie, Louvain, Belgique, The Modern Language Association Directory of Periodicals, Humanities Index, et l'Index de Périodiques Canadiens.

Philosophical Books

Edited by Anthony Ellis

Philosophical Books publishes prompt, scholarly reviews to assist both librarians and individuals in the choice of professional works of philosophy. It carries extensive reviews of major new publications in all areas of philosophy ranging from full-blown critical notices to short, one-page reviews. The journal also publishes occasional 'Recent Work' pieces. Recent reviews include Gerald Dworkin on Rawls and Crispin Wright on Michael Dummett.

Teaching Philosophy

Teaching Philosophy provides an open forum for the exchange and evaluation of ideas, information, and materials concerning the teaching of philosophy. Published quarterly, Teaching Philosophy explores the relationship between philosophy and its teaching, the nature of philosophy curricula, courses and methods, and the unique problems that exist for philosophy teachers. Readers will learn about innovative teaching methods, successful classroom stratagems, and the use of new materials.

Editors:

James H. Fetzer, Dept. of Philosophy, University of Minnesota, Duluth, USA

Risto Hilpinen, University of Turku, Finland

Barry Richards, Imperial College of Science, Technology and Medicine, London, UK

Paul Humphreys, (and Book Review Editor), Dept. of Philosophy, University of Virginia, USA

Synthese publishes articles in the theory of knowledge, the general methodological problems of science, such as the problems of scientific discovery and scientific interest, of induction and probability, of causation and of the role of mathematics, statistics and logic in science, the methodological and foundational problems of the different departmental sciences, insofar as they have philosophical interest, those aspects of symbolic logic and of the foundations of mathematics which are relevant to the philosophy and methodology of science, and those facets of the history and sociology of science which are important for contemporary topical pursuits. Particular attention is paid to the role of mathematical, logical and linguistic methods in the general methodology of science and the foundations of the different sciences, be they physical, biological, behavioral or social. Most of the issues of Synthese are organized into thematic issues, taking the character of symposia dealing with described themes.

Studies in East European Thought is intended to provide a forum for Western-language (English and German) writings on philosophy and philosophers who identify with the history and cultures of East and Central Europe, including Russia, Ukraine, and the Baltic States. The editors do not advocate a program or defend a position as to the nature and limits of philosophy in its manifold interactions with other disciplines and in its role in articulating cultural values and marking intellectual dissonances. They welcome descriptive, critical, comparative, and historical studies of individuals, schools, currents, and institutions whose work and influence are widely regarded in their own environments to be philosophical or provide insight into the socio-cultural conditions of philosophical life in Eastern Europe.

The past decades have witnessed fascinating and controversial advances in the biological sciences. One may think, for instance, of methods for analyzing the basic molecular units of heredity; of proposals and clarifications of the appropriate methods of classifying organisms; of exciting new ideas about the nature of the fossil record and their implications for the elucidation of evolutionary mechanisms; and of ways in which the biological study of behavior has been extended, theoretically and experimentally, and of supposed implications for humankind. To add to these internal issues, the outside world has also seen much debate on biology - in the world of education, for instance.

These and other issues have made biology one of the most exhilarating areas of science, and have aroused in biologists and philosophers an awareness that there is a need for meta-theoretical analysis, both about the very nature of biology, as well as about its social implications.

Biology and Philosophy is aimed at a broad readership, drawn from both the sciences and the humanities. The journal subscribes to no specific school of biology, nor of philosophy, and publishes work from authors of all persuasions and all disciplines. The editorial board reflects this attitude in its composition and its world-wide membership. Each issue of Biology and Philosophy carries one or more discussions or comparative reviews, permitting the in-depth study of important works and topics.

The Journal of Philosophical Logic publishes papers that utilize formal methods or that deal with topics in logical theory, such as:

- Contributions to branches of logical theory directly related to philosophical concerns, such as inductive logic, modal logic, deontic logic, quantum logic, tense logic, free logic, logic of questions, logic of commands, logic of preference, logic of conditionals, many-valued logic, and relevance logics.
- Contributions to philosophical discussions that utilize the machinery of formal logic, as in recent treatments of abstract entities, non-existent possibles, essentialism, existence, propositional attitudes, meaning and truth.
- Discussions of philosophical issues relating to logic and the logical structure of language, such as conventionalism in logic, ontic commitment, logical or semantic paradoxes, the logic of hypotheses and of pre-suppositions, constructivism, and extensionality. Philosophical work relating to specific sciences (such as linguistics, history of logic, or physics), with an emphasis on foundational problems, and making use of logical theory. Some instances of recent work of this kind are the treatments of universal grammar, pragmatics, conceptions of possibility, theories and mathematical truth in the history of philosophy, formalization of scientific theories, or logical structure in quantum mechanics.

Theory and Society is a forum for the international community of scholars that publishes theoretically-informed analyses of social processes. It opens its pages to authors working at the frontiers of social analysis, regardless of discipline. Its subject matter ranges from prehistory to contemporary affairs, from treatments of single individuals and national societies to world culture, from discussions of theory to methodological critique, from First World to Third World - but always in the effort to bring together theory, criticism and concrete observation.

Philosophical Studies was founded in 1950 by Herbert Feigl and Wilfrid Sellars to provide a periodical dedicated to work in analytic philosophy. The journal remains devoted to the publication of papers in exclusively analytic philosophy. Papers applying formal techniques to philosophical problems are welcome. The principal aim is to publish articles that are models of clarity and precision in dealing with significant philosophical issues. It is intended that readers of the journal will be kept abreast of the central issues and problems of contemporary analytic philosophy.

Canadian Journal of Philosophy tient à remercier l'Université de Lethbridge de l'aide généreuse qu'elle apporte à la gestion de sa rédaction.

Canadian Journal of Philosophy is grateful for past support from its originating sponsor, the Canadian Association for Publishing in Philosophy. The Association is a non-profit organization, incorporated under the laws of Canada, with the object of promoting and publishing learned publications in philosophy. A regular member of the Association is a member of, and appointed by, any department of philosophy in a Canadian university, upon payment of a subscription by that department. The Association is a Registered Canadian Charitable Organization within the meaning of the Income Tax Act; donations to the Association are thus tax deductible.

Canadian Journal of Philosophy désire exprimer sa gratitude à l'Association Canadienne des Publications en Philosophie qui l'a aidé par le passé. L'Association est un organisme à but non lucratif, incorporé aux termes de la loi canadienne, ayant pour objet la promotion et la publication d'études savantes en philosophie. Tout membre appartenant à et désigné par, un département de philosophie d'une université canadienne est de facto, au reçu du règlement de l'abonnement départemental, membre à part entière de l'Association. L'Association est inscrite au Registre officiel des Organismes de Charité canadiens aux termes de la loi de l'impôt sur le revenu; les donations dont elle fait l'objet peuvent bénéficier ainsi du dégrèvement d'impôt.
