

New Paperbacks

WILLIAM CARLOS WILLIAMS

An American Artist

James E. B. Breslin

"Of all the books I have seen so far on Williams, . . . I would choose Breslin's as by far the best single introduction. . . . Breslin's critical overview fixes Williams's early development, next places Williams in his literary and cultural milieu, and then focuses on the major texts while also providing incisive comments on the others."

—Paul Mariani, Massachusetts Review

$9.95 262 pages

FROM MODERN TO CONTEMPORARY

American Poetry, 1945–1965

James E. B. Breslin

In this first historical study of recent American poetry, Breslin explores the radical shift in poetic theory and practice that took place in American verse around 1960. While arguing a historical thesis that covers twenty years of American poetry, Breslin concentrates on five poets—Ginsberg, Lowell, Levertov, Wright, and O'Hara. $9.95 288 pages

THE POETRY OF EXPERIENCE

The Dramatic Monologue in Modern Literary Tradition

Robert Langbaum

"Robert Langbaum's classic The Poetry of Experience . . . persuasively explains the lapse of narrative plot and the growth of character as the shaping principle of conspicuously modern poems from Browning's monologues to Eliot's soliloquies."—William Haemon, Georgia Review

$9.95 246 pages

WHEN WORDS LOSE THEIR MEANING

Constitutions and Reconstitutions of Language, Character, and Community

James Boyd White

"[White's] marriage of lawyerly acumen and classically trained literary sensibility. . . . gives the best parts of When Words Lose Their Meaning a gravity and moral earnestness rare in the pages of contemporary literary criticism."

—Roger Kimball, American Scholar

$12.50 398 pages

CRITICISM AND SOCIAL CHANGE

Frank Lentricchia

Through an extended meditation whose genius loci is Kenneth Burke, Lentricchia shows his reader how a social and political framework for literary theory is unavoidable, despite the "apolitical" disavowals of traditional intellectuals.

"A profound meditation on the relations obtaining among writing, political consciousness, and criticism. . . . It is written with passion and grace."—Hayden White, University of California, Santa Cruz

$7.95 184 pages

SELECTED ESSAYS OF DELMORE SCHWARTZ

Edited by Donald A. Dike

and David H. Zucker

With an Appreciation by Dwight McDonald

This collection of fifty essays and reviews is the definitive representation of Delmore Schwartz's critical work.

"Reading through Delmore Schwartz's essays is like touring the monuments of literary modernism in the company of a wise and entertaining guide."—Herbert Leibowitz, New York Times Book Review

$14.95 524 pages

THE COLORS OF RHETORIC

Problems in the Relation of Modern Art and Literature

Wendy Steiner

Steiner elevates the literature-painting analogy from a matter of fashion to a matter of philosophy, providing a theoretical context for studies of the sister arts. Among the many writers and artists discussed are Pieter Breughel, Henri Rousseau, Edward Gorey, M. C. Escher, William Carlos Williams, Lewis Carroll, and E. E. Cummings.

"[The Colors of Rhetoric] displays an uncommon combination of historical and theoretical sophistication, intellectual precision and genuine aesthetic and literary sensitivity. It is . . . likely to be the standard work on its subject for a very long time to come."—Barbara Herrnstein Smith

$12.95 280 pages Illustrated throughout

The University of CHICAGO Press

5801 South Ellis Avenue, Chicago, IL 60637

Criticism from Cornell

ROMANTICISM AND LANGUAGE

Edited by ARDEN REED. This collection of original essays treats questions of language that emerge in the reading of Romantic literature. Contributors: Timothy Bahti, Leslie Brisman, Cynthia Chase, Jerome Christensen, Frances Ferguson, Mary Jacobus, Richard Macksey, Reeve Parker, Arden Reed, and Susan Wolfson. $12.95 paper

BEING IN THE TEXT

Self-Representation from Wordsworth to Roland Barthes
By PAUL JAY. "A fine, intelligent piece of work on a subject of real importance in itself and of crucial significance for literary theorists. . . . Jay's book will prove one of the more thoughtful works on autobiography."—James Olney, Louisiana State University. $7.95 paper; $25.00 cloth

D.H. LAWRENCE

A Centenary Consideration

Edited by PETER BALBERT and PHILLIP L. MARCUS. This impressive collection of essays illuminates the richness of Lawrence's writings and the multifaceted nature of his accomplishments. Contributors: Peter Balbert, Maria DiBattista, Avrom Fleishman, Sandra M. Gilbert, Robert Kiely, A. Walton Litz, Phillip L. Marcus, Marjorie Perloff, Charles Rossman, Mark Spilka, and George J. Zytaruk. $25.00 cloth

THE COSMIC WEB

Scientific Field Models and Literary Strategies in the Twentieth Century

By N. KATHERINE HAYLES. "Luminously written and argued with impressive sophistication, this wedding of literary criticism and current scientific metaphysics uses Pirsig, Nabokov (in Ada), and—inevitably—Gravity's Rainbow for some of its exemplary texts."—American Literature. $19.95 cloth

INTERPRETIVE CONVENTIONS

The Reader in the Study of American Fiction

By STEVEN MAILLOUX. "A very good book on central issues in reader-oriented literary criticism. . . . Scholars and students interested in current issues in the theory of literature . . . will learn from this rich book."—The Journal of Aesthetics and Art Criticism. $7.95 paper; $24.95 cloth

NOVELS, READERS, AND REVIEWERS

Responses to Fiction in Antebellum America

By NINA BAYM. "A fresh and exciting contribution to our understanding the criticism and the sociology of narrative in the nineteenth century. It is a book of sovereign insights, richly earned."—Terence Martin, American Literature. "[Baym] has something arresting to say, some tension to disclose, or some fresh piece of information to impart on virtually every page."—R. W. B. Lewis, New England Quarterly. $24.95 cloth

CORNELL UNIVERSITY PRESS
PO. Box 250, Ithaca, New York 14851