NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

The Editor welcomes contributions on all aspects and periods of the history of architecture. Proposals should in the first instance be e-mailed to her at architectural.history@sahgb.org.uk. Since the journal is a double blind refereed one, when the article is submitted in full two anonymous copies should be sent to Professor Judi Loach, RGS, Cardiff University, 60 Park Place, Cardiff, CF10 3AT. It is recommended that illustrations should be sent in the first instance as printouts of digital images or as photocopies. Notes for contributors are available on the SAHGB website (www.sahgb.org.uk/index.cfm/display_page/AHContributors), or from the Editor on request.

Papers submitted cannot be returned.

ARCHITECTURAL HISTORY ON-LINE

The Society is very pleased to announce that back issues of Architectural History are available for consultation on-line to subscribers to JSTOR, a not-for-profit American company; non-subscribers can purchase individual articles direct from JSTOR. Our journal has joined JSTOR's electronic, digital archive, which already includes many periodicals of relevance to the study of the history of architecture. Ease of access to back issues of specific journals and the ability to word search across different journals that have published work in architectural history greatly facilitates scholarship in our field and has also increased the visibility of the journal and Society alike.
