TWO SPECIAL ISSUES

POLAND UNDER JARUZELSKI

Part I, Vol. 26, No. 3 (116)

Part II, Vol. 26, No. 4 (117)

The "state of war" has been suspended, but the war goes on. These two special issues of SURVEY on Self-Occupation and Resistance in Poland provide a vivid picture of the struggle of the Polish people against the regime's attempt to re-impose totalitarian control over a society which recovered its sense of identity and freedom in the period of Solidarity. SURVEY conveys to the Western reader an understanding of the issues involved, a feeling of the continuing historical movement, and telling glimpses of some of the protagonists: Jaruzelski, Rakowski, Urban, Walesa, Bujak, Glemp. It gives a unique insight into the wider implications of Polish developments in terms of East-West relations, and scrutinizes Western attitudes to them.

It also contains a sensational Party document which has never been disclosed:

Labor's War at Home

The CIO in World War II

Nelson Lichtenstein

Lichtenstein examines a critical period in American labor history—the years from 1939 to 1946. He focuses on the internal dynamics of the labor movement (especially the CIO) in its relationship with the Roosevelt administration. His book argues that tensions within both the labor movement and American business profoundly affected government policy and labor's relations with Roosevelt and the Democratic Party.

Dreaming of What Might Be

The Knights of Labor in Ontario, 1880–1900

Gregory S. Kealey and Bryan D. Palmer

In their fascinating study of the rise and fall of the Knights of Labor, the authors recreate a working class dream of an alternative to industrial capitalist society. Case studies of the Knights chronicle the social, political, and cultural impact on the order across the province.

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalizations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, Department of History, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.

Contributors will receive 50 offprints. Any additional offprints must be ordered on receipt of the first proof.
