Published in association with the
Plainsong and Medieval Music Society and Cantus Planus

Editors

James Borders, University of Michigan, USA

Christian Thomas Leitmeir, Bangor University, UK

Plainsong & Medieval Music is published twice a year in association with the Plainsong and Medieval Music Society and Cantus Planus, study group of the International Musicological Society. It covers the entire spectrum of medieval music: Eastern and Western chant, secular lyric, music theory, palaeography, performance practice, and medieval polyphony, both sacred and secular, as well as the history of musical institutions. The chronological scope of the journal extends from late antiquity to the early Renaissance and to the present day in the case of chant. In addition to articles embodying original research, the journal publishes book reviews, an annual bibliography of chant research and an annual discography of chant recordings.

Anglo-Saxon England

Editor

Simon Keynes, University of Cambridge, UK

Rosalind Love, University of Cambridge, UK

Anglo-Saxon England is recognised internationally as the foremost regular publication in its field. In fact it is the only one which consistently embraces all the main aspects of study of Anglo-Saxon history and culture - linguistic, literary, textual, palaeographic, religious, intellectual, historical, archaeological and artistic - and which promotes the more unusual interests - in music or medicine or education, for example. Especially it seeks to exploit the advantages of a broadly based interdisciplinary approach.

The journal's editorial board follows a strict policy of reviewing submissions, and invites contributions (in English) from experienced and promising scholars from anywhere in the world.
