CONTRIBUTIONS FROM ALL DISCIPLINES WELCOMED

Traditionally, "Southeast Asian Studies" tended to focus on Archaeology, Languages, Geography, and History. Over the past three decades, other disciplines have been added. It was to provide an organ for the publication of the researches of the growing number of Southeast Asian scholars in various disciplines that the Journal of Southeast Asian History was renamed in 1970 the Journal of Southeast Asian Studies, now widely regarded throughout the world as the foremost journal for such regional studies.

As a result of the demand for much publication space, the number of pages has been increased substantially with effect from the March issue of 1979. The Editorial Committee will be pleased to consider for publication any scholarly article on Southeast Asia, in any discipline — more specifically, Anthropology, Archaeology, Economics, Geography, History, Literature, Political Science, and Sociology. This Journal is a referee journal, and seeks not only to maintain a high standard of scholarship but also to ensure publication of accepted articles in the shortest possible time.

Articles should preferably be between 4,000 and 8,000 words. All contributions should be typewritten or mimeographed, with double-spacing, and submitted in duplicate to:

The Editor
Journal of Southeast Asian Studies
Department of History, University of Singapore
Bukit Timah Road, Singapore 1025.

A style-sheet is available on request.

The Journal of Southeast Asian Studies intends to publish

A SPECIAL ISSUE

on

THE CHINESE AND THEIR ROLES IN SOUTHEAST ASIA

Guest Editor: Dr. C.F. Yong

The Editorial Board of the Journal has decided that its March 1981 issue will be devoted to a study of the roles of the Chinese in Southeast Asia in political, economic, social, cultural, and educational change or development.

Scholars from various disciplines within the Social Sciences are invited to contribute papers on the above subject.

Papers submitted should preferably be between 6,000 and 12,000 words per piece. Deadline for submission will be 1 August 1980. All correspondence and papers must be directed to Dr. C.F. Yong, c/o History Discipline, School of Social Sciences, Flinders University of South Australia, Bedford Park, South Australia 5042, Australia.
