A Presumption Against Extrajurisdictionality John H. Knox 351

In deciding whether federal statutes reach outside the United States, the Supreme Court employs a presumption against extraterritoriality. Its jurisprudence construing the canon has been inconsistent, however, and lower courts have amplified the confusion. This article proposes that the Court look for guidance to the international law of legislative jurisdiction. A presumption against extrajurisdictional, rather than extraterritorial, application of federal statutes would be more predictable and would better comport with reasonable assumptions of congressional intent.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

The American Society of International Law was organized in 1906 “to foster the study of international law and to promote the establishment and maintenance of international relations on the basis of law and justice.” Society membership is open to all persons of any nationality and profession who are interested in its objectives. Dues are: regular, $190; special, $120; new professional, $120; retired, $120; student, $50. Sustaining Memberships—contributing ($300) and patron ($10,000)—are also available. Institutional sponsorship programs begin at $5000. The Society is incorporated by Act of Congress approved September 20, 1950 (64 Stat. 869).

PROGRAM OF WORK

In addition to publishing the American Journal of International Law, the ASIL offers a variety of information resources and participation opportunities for members as well as nonmembers. These programs, best viewed at www.asil.org, include publications such as International Legal Materials and Studies in Transnational Legal Policy; electronic bulletins such as ASIL Insights, International Law In Brief, and IL.post; events such as the Annual Meeting and other gatherings in Washington, D.C., and around the world; outreach programs for the judicial sector, the media, and other audiences; an array of resources on the ASIL web site, such as the Electronic Information System for International Law (EISIL) and the Guide to Electronic Resources for International Law (ERG); and opportunities to be part of an active network bridging expert and nonexpert communities associated with the development of international law.

PHILANTHROPY AND THE SOCIETY

The ASIL accomplishes much of its work through charitable support. The Society is grateful to its many members who contribute to the annual fund and the endowment, the foundations whose grants fund special programs, and the law firms, publishers, universities, and others that sponsor ASIL activity. The Society is particularly honored to receive contributions through the Patrons program and to be included in our members' estate plans through the ASIL Heritage Circle. We recognize these contributors below.

PATRONS

Patrons of the Society contribute $10,000 or more to the ASIL Endowment for International Law. Patrons may also be recognized posthumously upon such a donation being made in their name.
