CONTRIBUTORS

Alice V. Clark is Professor of Music History at Loyola University New Orleans, where she teaches a wide variety of courses in music and medieval studies. Her scholarship on the medieval motet has appeared in forums such as the Journal of Musicology, A Companion to Guillaume de Machaut (2012), and the Critical Companion to Medieval Motets (2018).

David Maw is an Associate Professor in Music at the University of Oxford, where he is Fellow and Tutor in Music at Oriel College and Lecturer at Christ Church. He is currently preparing an online edition of the music of Guillaume de Machaut and a monograph drawing out the significance of the edition for understanding of the composer's work.

Marianne C.E. Gillion is an FWO postdoctoral researcher in the Department of Musicology at KU Leuven on the project According to Antwerp, Reformed to Rome: Music, Liturgies, and Identities in the Bishopric of Antwerp (1559–1801). She was previously a research assistant on the project Music printing in German-speaking lands: From the 1470s to the mid-16th century at the University of Salzburg. Her research interests include the use of plainchant in Reformation liturgies from German-speaking areas and in Counter-Reformation liturgies from Italy and the Low Countries.
