

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

ALBERTO ARENAS DE MESA earned a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Pittsburgh and is Chief of the Research Department of the Budget Office at the Ministerio de Hacienda in Chile.

VERONICA MONTECINOS is Associate Professor of Sociology at the Pennsylvania State University, McKeesport Campus. She wrote Economists, Politics, and the State: Chile, 1958–1994.

ALEJANDRO DE LA FUENTE is Assistant Professor of History at the University of South Florida. He is currently preparing a manuscript on racial politics in Cuba.

CHRISTINA EWIG is a doctoral candidate in political science at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. She is completing her dissertation on the process of social policy reform in Peru and the gendered impacts of such policies.

TRACY FITZSIMMONS serves as Director of Latin American Studies and Associate Professor of Government at the University of Redlands. Her research and published articles focus on civil society, women's movements, and gender and policing under democratization in Latin America and Haiti.

MARK ANNER lived, worked, and conducted research on labor in El Salvador for more than seven years. His published work and current research center on the labor movement and export-processing zones in Central America. He is now pursuing a Ph.D. in Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University.

A native of Germany, HOLGER M. MEDING is Assistant Professor of Iberian and Latin American History at the University of Cologne and a senior researcher for the Argentine government commission CEANA (Comisión para el Esclarecimiento del Nazismo in la República Argentina). He has written studies on German emigration to Argentina during the Perón era and is currently investigating the creation and development of the state and the nation in Panama.

ERIC VAN YOUNG is Professor of History and Associate Director of the Center for U.S.-Mexican Studies at the University of California, San Diego. His books include Hacienda and Market in Eighteenth-Century Mexico: The Rural Economy of the Guadalajara Region, 1675–1820; La crisis del orden colonial: Estructura agraria y rebeliones populares de la Nueva España, 1750–1821; and The Other Rebellion: Popular Violence and Ideology in Mexico, 1810–1821 (forthcoming).

LUIGI MANZETTI is Associate Professor of Political Science at Southern Methodist University. His latest book is Privatization South American Style. He is currently working on a project assessing the impact of regulatory policy in recently privatized public utilities in Latin America.

T. DAVID MASON is Professor of Political Science at the University of Memphis. His studies on revolution and other forms of civil violence have appeared in various anthologies and journals, including American Political Science Review, Jour- nal of Politics, Comparative Political Studies, and International Studies Quarterly.

MATILDE ZIMMERMANN is a visiting assistant professor of history and Latin American Studies at Vassar College. She received a Ph.D. in history from the University of Pittsburgh, with a dissertation on the origins of the Frente Sandinista de Liberación Nacional (FSLN). Her book, In the Footsteps of Che and Sandino: The Life of Carlos Fonseca Amador of Nicaragua, will be published by Duke University Press.

THOMAS KLAK is Associate Professor of Geography at the Miami University Dolibois European Center in Luxembourg and Adjunct Associate Professor of Geography at Ohio State University in Columbus. His research focuses on analyzing critically the development discourses in government policy and the news media and assessing the distributional impacts of structural adjustment and neoliberalism. His e-mail address is klakt@muohio.edu

RAJU DAS is Assistant Professor of Geography at the University of Dundee in Scotland. His research interests include theories of development and of the state, political economy, and uneven development as well as agrarian issues. His e-mail address is r.j.das@dundee.ac.uk

PAUL J. DOSAL is Associate Professor of History at the University of South Florida. He published Doing Business with the Dictators: A Political History of United Fruit in Guatemala, 1899–1944 and Power in Transition: The Rise of Guatemala's Industrial Oligarchy, 1871–1944.

ANN ZULAWSKI is Associate Professor of History and Latin American Studies at Smith College. She is working on a social history of medicine in Bolivia from 1900 to 1950.

MARIA C. ALBIN is Visiting Assistant Professor of Spanish at Miami University, Ohio. She is currently working on a book-length manuscript on Gertrudis Gómez de Avellaneda.

RAUL MARRERO-FENTE is Assistant Professor of Spanish at Miami University, Ohio. He wrote La poética de la ley en las Capitulaciones de Santa Fe, which will be published in Spain by Editorial Trotta.