Cordelia Adams is a final-year student in the Bachelor of Arts program at Griffith University, majoring in Creative Writing and Literature. She hopes to make a career in literature-related work.

Simon Bronitt is Professor of Law and the Deputy Dean (Research) at the T.C. Beirne School of Law at the University of Queensland. Over the past 25 years, he has published widely across the fields of criminal law and procedure, policing and human rights, and counter-terrorism.

Patrick Buckridge is an adjunct Professor in the School of Humanities at Griffith University. His research on the history of reading has been funded by the Australian Research Council.

Simon Farley is the Fryer Librarian at the University of Queensland.

Suzie Gibson teaches literature at Charles Sturt University. She has published extensively in international journals, including Philosophy Today and Philosophy and Literature, and on authors such as Henry James and J.M. Coetzee. Her current research examines the power of secrecy as a literary phenomenon and everyday experience.

Jessica Gildersleeve is a Senior Lecturer in English Literature at the University of Southern Queensland. She is the author of Elizabeth Bowen and the Writing of Trauma: The Ethics of Survival (Rodopi 2014), and is currently working on a critical study of the work of Christos Tsiolkas.

Peter Griggs is a Senior Lecturer in Human Geography at the Cairns Campus of James Cook University. His research interests are in historical and agricultural geography, and environmental and agricultural history. He is author of the book Global Industry, Local Innovation: A History of Cane Sugar Production in Australia, 1820–1995 (2011).

Elspeth Lee studied speech and drama during school, and her interest in theatre started there. Since then, she has been awarded a law degree from Griffith University. Elspeth is now studying literature and writing, also at Griffith University.

Timothy Legrand is a lecturer at the National Security College at the Australian National University. His research agenda spans international policy transfer, crisis management and the governance of national security in Australia, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Notes on contributors

Ingrid McCabe is a fifth-year Arts/Law student at the University of Queensland, majoring in geography. She has an emerging research interest in environmental law and earth jurisprudence.

Philip Neilsen is a poet, author and editor. He is adjunct Professor of Creative Writing at Queensland University of Technology and teaches poetry at the University of Queensland. He co-edited The Cambridge Companion to Creative Writing with David Morley and Creative Arts in Counselling and Mental Health with Robert King and Felicity Baker (to be released August 2015).

Sharyn Pearce is Professor of Creative Writing and Literary Studies at Queensland University of Technology. Her main research interests lie in the areas of children's and youth writing.

Celmaria Pocock is a Senior Lecturer in Anthropology and Australian Indigenous Studies at the University of Southern Queensland, Toowoomba. The research for this article was undertaken while she was the John Oxley Library Fellow at the State Library of Queensland.

Jean Skeat is a PhD candidate at the University of Queensland.

Curing 'the bends'

“ Hill and Greenwood decompressed themselves, without any serious symptoms, after short exposures at excess pressures of as much as five and even six atmospheres.”

From ‘The Prevention of Compressed Air Illness’,
Journal of Hygiene, 1908

This breakthrough article included early research into decompression and the first ever dive tables.

It's just one of the treasures in the Cambridge Journals Digital Archive

SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

Queensland Review publishes articles of approximately 5000–6000 words. Please email submissions to Queensland Review to the Lead Editor, Professor Kay Ferres, at: k.ferres@griffith.edu.au

1. At least two separate files must be submitted. If there are figures, three or more separate files must be submitted.
  - i A Title Page document. The name of this file must be constructed as follows: [first 20 characters of the title]_[ddmmyear]_QR_Title.doc
  - ii An Article document. The name of this file must be constructed as follows: [first 20 characters of the title]_[ddmmyear]_QR_Article.doc
  - iii Any Figure documents should be supplied with the name of the file constructed as follows: [first 20 characters of the title]_[ddmmyear]_QR_Figure# (with # being the number of the figure)
2. The Title Page and Article documents should be saved as Microsoft Word documents, in Times New Roman 12 pt font, double-spaced with margins of at least 25 mm on both sides and in A4 page size.
3. The Title Page document should contain the full title of the article as well as the full names and affiliations of all authors followed by full postal and email addresses for the corresponding author. A word count and suggested running head of no more than 50 characters including spaces should also be provided.
4. The Article document should include the complete article without any identifiable author details but including the title and an abstract not exceeding 200 words that provides a brief overview of the aims, method and major findings, without any citations. The abstract will not be published, but may be used for publicity purposes.
5. Tables should be created in Word and included at the end of the article after the references, with their approximate positions in the text indicated by the words, 'Insert Table X here'. Horizontal and vertical lines should be used sparingly.
6. Figures, graphs, illustrations and photographs (but not tables) should be prepared to the correct size and each one supplied as individual files, separate to the article. To ensure optimal quality, please follow the guidelines provided in the full instructions available at journals.cambridge.org/qre

A list of figure captions should follow the tables in the article document. Captions must include sources and permissions for copyright material. It is the responsibility of the corresponding author to obtain written permission to reproduce any photographs or other copyright material.

REVIEW

All manuscripts are sent for blind peer-review to members of the editorial board and guest reviewers. The review process generally requires three months. The receipt of submitted manuscripts will be acknowledged by the editor, from whom a decision and reviewers' comments will be received when the peer-review has been completed. Papers submitted to the journal must not previously have been published, and must not be submitted for publication to any other journal while under consideration for Queensland Review.

STYLE AND REFERENCING

For details of the Queensland Review style, please see the style and referencing guide available at journals.cambridge.org/qre

1. Authors should follow Australian spelling and punctuation conventions throughout their articles (except in quotations from other sources, where the spelling convention of the original should be retained). Use the Oxford English Dictionary.
2. Use single inverted commas, except for quotations within quotations (which have double inverted commas). Punctuation should follow closing inverted commas except for grammatically complete sentences beginning with a capital.
3. Since Queensland Review is a multi-disciplinary journal, we accept referencing using either the short-title (endnote) system or the author-date (Harvard) system, depending on the disciplinary base on the author. Each individual paper must conform to one or other of these systems.
4. Use endnotes, not footnotes.
5. Include a bibliography only if the author-date (Harvard) system of referencing is used.
6. Generally notes should be kept brief. Source references should be given with as little additional matter as possible.
7. Quotations should be kept to a minimum and lengthy quotations should be avoided. As a general rule, quotations of more than about 60 words should be set off from the main text (indented with extra space above and below). Those of fewer than 60 words should run on in the text inside inverted commas.
