

CHRONIQUE—ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Translation Center at Southern Illinois University (Edwardsville, Ill. 62025; Dr. Fritz Marti, Director) wishes it known that it maintains a free information service concerning philosophical translations in progress or recently completed, both with and without publication contract. Lists are updated annually, as known, and information is available to prospective translators upon request. Titles in the current list are from Greek, Latin, German, French, Italian and Danish originals—all evidently into English.

The first number of The Locke Newsletter, published in Autumn 1970 by Roland Hall at the University of York, England, contains news of books and work in progress concerning Locke, and articles by Douglas Odegard and by David H. Sanford. The editor invites interested persons to write to him for a free copy.
