FAIRBANK REMEMBERED

Compiled by Paul A. Cohen and Merle Goldman

The personal recollections in this volume, written by the late dean of American sinology's students, professional colleagues, friends, and acquaintances are alternately incisive, affectionate, deeply moving, and hilariously funny. Cumulatively, they form a book that is unusually intimate and honest, not only in what its authors have to say about Fairbank, but also in what they have to say about themselves and the importance Fairbank had in their lives.

FORTHCOMING TITLES

Between Freedom and Subsistence China and Human Rights

Ann Kent

Set in the context of international human rights law, this book offers a comprehensive analysis of China's human rights theory and practice since 1949. It combines legal and institutional documentation with cultural explanation and social, political and economic analysis and it places emphasis on developments in China's human rights in the post-1978 modernization era, particularly since the tragic events of June 1989.

Foreigners within the Gates The Legations at Peking

Michael J. Moser

Yeone Wei-chih Moser

An illustrated history of the Legation Quarter in Peking from the Opium Wars to 'Liberation' in 1949, and indirectly a history of China's changing relations with foreigners and their government representatives.

“Consistently Important.”
— Henry Kissinger

Bored by airy “reflections” on world events?
Tired of reading the same Big Thinkers, year after year? Put off by academese and bureaucratic jargon?

So are we.

That’s why Orbis doesn’t publish musings called “Whither the World?” Nor speculative articles by somebody who used to be somebody.

Orbis publishes articles explaining today’s news — by writers who know what they’re talking about.
Articles like:

Needed: A Post-Containment Doctrine
Senator Malcolm Wallop

Should the U.N. Have a Real Army?
Jeffrey R. Gerlach

Military Thinking in Today’s Russia
Mary C. Fitzgerald

And as for writing: Frankly, we give our authors a hard time — so that you won’t have a hard time understanding them. The result? Illuminating analyses. Lucid arguments. Readable prose. In the end, a world made more intelligible for you.

Manuscripts

The China Quarterly welcomes the submission of manuscripts from scholars, including postgraduate students, on all aspects of contemporary China and from all points of view, including those which deal with Taiwan and Overseas Chinese. Articles on China prior to 1949 are also welcome, particularly, but not exclusively, when these relate directly to contemporary China or to the history of the Chinese Communist Party. Articles should be submitted, in quadruplicate to the editorial office. They should normally not exceed 8,000 words in length; should be typed in double spacing, with footnotes at the end; and should conform to the styling of The China Quarterly (see below). Submission of a manuscript is taken to imply that it has not previously been published in any form (including non-copyrighted working papers) and that it is not currently being considered elsewhere.

The China Quarterly is published by the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. The views expressed in articles are those of individual authors and do not necessarily represent the views of the School.

Style

Romanization

Pinyin is used without tone/diacritical marks, except the following which should use the Wade-Giles system; names such as Chiang Kai-shek, Sun Yat-sen, Taipei and Kuomintang; names of individuals living outside mainland China. Chinese characters should be provided on the first occurrence of each romanization, to assist in proofreading.
