

chicago

A HUMAN COMEDY

Physiognomy and Caricature in 19th Century Paris

Judith Wechsler

With a Foreword by Richard Sennett

This lively study draws on art history, literature, the history of theater, and political and social documents to demonstrate how caricature recorded the mood and attitude of city life in Paris between 1830 and 1870. Through studies of Balzac, Daumier, Deburau (the mime), and Baudelaire, Wechsler shows how caricature reflected Parisians' preoccupation with physical clues to class, profession, character, and circumstances.

Cloth $29.95 208 pages 162 Illustrations

THE SUBJECT IN QUESTION

The Languages of Theory and the Strategies of Fiction

David Carroll

Carroll investigates the complicated and often conflictual relationship between fiction and critical theory. He integrates discussions of particular philosophers, historians, and literary theorists with analyses of the fictions of the contemporary French novelist Claude Simon.

A Chicago Original Paperback $12.95 240 pages

Also available in cloth $26.00

SARTRE AND FLAUBERT

Hazel E. Barnes

"[Sartre and Flaubert] is an authoritative, clear, cogent presentation of complex issues. [Barnes] puts her finger unerringly on the originality of Sartre's contribution."—Victor Brombert, Times Literary Supplement

Paper $10.95 460 pages

Also available

Jean-Paul Sartre's THE FAMILY IDIOT

Gustave Flaubert, 1821–1857, Volume I

Translated by Carol Cosman

Cloth $25.00 638 pages

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

5801 South Ellis Avenue Chicago, IL 60637

MICHEL FOUCAULT AND THE SUBVERSION OF INTELLECT

By KARLIS RACEVSKIS. The author sees in Michel Foucault's explorations of history a bold and radical view of Western civilization. Focusing on Foucault's innovative approach to the analysis of discourse—its formation, its use, and its ramifications—Racevskis studies Foucault's intellectual strategy and seeks to demonstrate that his writings constitute a critique of the Western mode of thought that both delineates its foundations and challenges its hegemony. $19.50

MODERN EUROPEAN INTELLECTUAL HISTORY

Reappraisals and New Perspectives

Edited by DOMINICK LACAPRA and STEVEN L. KAPLAN. Intellectual historians today perceive their field as undergoing a fundamental change—a change that will necessitate reconsideration of the basic premises of intellectual history, its goals, and its practices. In this collection of essays, the ten contributors explore the present state and possible future of intellectual history, asking such questions as: What are the implications for intellectual historians of methodologies and theories that originate outside the field of history, especially structuralism, deconstruction, semiotics, and language theory in general? What is the legacy of the Annales school? And what is the relation of intellectual history to social history? $29.50 cloth; $14.95 (Academic Paperback Editions)

THE NOVELS OF THE GERMAN ROMANTICS

By ERIC A. BLACKALL. Addressing comparatists and students of the novel as well as Germanists, Blackall makes a major contribution to our understanding of German romanticism, the romantic movement, and the history of the novel. "Blackall's book possesses such a richness of texture, such a wealth of ideas and interpretive skills that it will become a standard reference work for years to come."—John Fetzer, University of California, Davis. $34.50 cloth; $14.95 (Academic Paperback Editions)

DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI AND THE LIMITS OF VICTORIAN VISION

By DAVID G. RIEDE. "This book is surely the finest available on its subject. Riede presents both sensitive readings of individual poems and the first really convincing, coherent treatment of the artist's career."—George Landow, Brown University. "A thorough, lucid, insightful, and critically sophisticated account of Rossetti's development as an artist and poet."—Paul Zeitlow, Indiana University, Bloomington. $25.00

A CONCORDANCE TO THE PLAYS, POEMS, AND TRANSLATIONS OF CHRISTOPHER MARLOWE

Edited by ROBERT J. FEHRENBACH, LEA ANN BOONE, and MARIO A. DICESARE. (A Cornell Concordance) $75.00

CORNELL UNIVERSITY PRESS

P.O. Box 250, Ithaca, New York 14850