A Digital Library of Images for Research and Study

The ARTstor Digital Library enables scholars, teachers, educators, and students to teach and study with more than one million images in the arts, architecture, humanities, social sciences, and beyond. Important collections include The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Museum of Modern Art, Berlin State Museums, Magnum Photos, Ezra Stoller Archive of Modern Architecture (Esto), Erich Lessing Culture and Fine Arts Archives, and Scala Archives. Significant images of Renaissance art and architecture are also represented in the Chiberti's Gates of Paradise, Bodleian Library, and Illustrated Bartsch collections. Ongoing contributions from dozens of other collaborators, such as the Gernsheim Photographic Corpus of Master Drawings and the Renaissance and Baroque Book Illustrations (Warburg Institute), will add 900,000 new images to the Digital Library.
