Child Soldiers in the Age of Fractured States

Scott Gates and Simon Reich, eds.

Paper • $27.95 • 978-0-8229-6029-4

"Best-selling books and big-budget movies have brought the issue of child soldiering to the world's attention. Yet none of them tell the story with the thoroughness and poignancy of this volume, which uses an impressive combination of contributors to analyze the phenomenon of child soldiers. This book is not only a call to action, but a major challenge to our morals as a community of nations."

—Betty Bigombe, Distinguished African Scholar,
Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars

Ambition and Division

Legacies of the George W. Bush Presidency

Steven E. Schier, ed.

Paper • $27.95 • 978-0-8229-6049-2

"Rarely has a presidency been as consequential as George W. Bush's. This volume takes the reader through the dramatic and significant changes—for better or worse—America and the world went through as a consequence of the actions of the Bush administration. It is essential reading for those who wish to understand just how much changed in those turbulent years."

—Michael A. Genovese, Loyola Marymount University

The Political Economy of Transitions to Peace

A Comparative Perspective

Galia Press-Barnathan

Paper • $27.95 • 978-0-8229-6027-0
Cloth • $65.00 • 978-0-8229-4373-0

"Using a thorough exploration of several interesting cases, Press-Barnathan reminds us that policymakers who are committed to the pacifying power of commerce imagine it will do more than prevent war between friendly states; they believe actively promoting economic cooperation between enemies could produce both peace and trade in situations where both are limited or nonexistent."

—Katherine Barbieri, University of South Carolina

Corruption and Democracy in Latin America

Charles H. Blake and Stephen D. Morris, eds.

Paper • $25.95 • 978-0-8229-6023-2

"This book offers a broad-based and genuinely comparative view of corruption issues and their relationship to democratic politics in Latin America. Those issues are treated in terms of both sophisticated theory and useful case studies. The result is an essential resource not only for regional specialists, but for anyone else concerned with the interplay of wealth, power, civil society, accountability, and democracy in changing societies."

—Michael Johnston, Colgate University

A UNIQUE VOLUME OF ENORMOUS IMPORTANCE TO ANYONE IN COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Hardback / $120.00 | 808 pages / 58 tables | ISBN: 978-0-521-51466-8

Where is the power? Students of politics have pondered this question, and social scientists have scrutinized formal political institutions and the distribution of power among agencies of the government and the state. But we still lack a rich bank of data measuring the power of specific governmental agencies, particularly national legislatures. This book assesses the strength of the national legislature of every country in the world with a population of at least a half-million inhabitants. The Legislative Powers Survey (LPS) is a list of 32 items that gauges the legislature's sway over the executive, its institutional autonomy, its authority in specific areas, and its institutional capacity. Data were generated by means of a vast international survey of experts, extensive study of secondary sources, and painstaking analysis of constitutions and other relevant documents. Individual country chapters provide answers to each of the 32 survey items, supplemented by expert commentary and relevant excerpts from constitutions.

Moved to Action

Motivation, Participation, and Inequality in American Politics

HAHRIE C. HAN

"Moved to Action is an urgently welcome contribution to our understanding of political participation. Han aims to get at the root of when and why individuals with threadbare resources and limited networks become politically active. Moved to Action is clearly written, smartly argued, and showcases an important new voice in political science."

Refugees, Women, and Weapons

International Norm Adoption and Compliance in Japan

PETRICE R. FLOWERS

"Refugees, Women, and Weapons uses complex and compelling arguments about norm adoption and compliance to shed new light on Japanese efforts to adapt to changing international standards of a 'civilization.' This sophisticated, fascinating book is an important contribution to the study of Japanese politics and constructivist international relations theory."

Judging Bush

Edited by ROBERT MARANTO,
TOM LANSFORD, and JEREMY JOHNSON

"Working within a pragmatic and flexible framework, this volume's contributors demonstrate an admirable mixture of daring and restraint as they expertly analyze the uncommonly consequential presidency of George W. Bush. The result is a timely and evenhanded book that sets the standard for presidential retrospectives."

Inside Nuclear South Asia

Edited by SCOTT D. SAGAN

"This is an excellent volume that brings together a wide array of perspectives on India and Pakistan's complex nuclear trajectories. The contributors, all prominent scholars of regional security, offer compelling arguments that nuclear weapon decisions in South Asia have been driven by calculations beyond simple security concerns emanating from the military rivalry between the two states."

Make plans to attend the 2010 APSA Annual Meeting!

Proposal Submission Deadline: December 15, 2009

2010 APSA Annual Meeting & Exhibition

Washington, DC, September 2-5, 2010

APSA and 2010 Program Chairs Lisa Martin (University of Wisconsin) and Andrea Campbell (MIT) encourage you to attend the 2010 APSA Annual Meeting in Washington DC. Plans for the conference are underway!

Martin and Campbell are organizing the conference on the theme "The Politics of Hard Times: Citizens, Nations, and the International System under Economic Stress." Periodically the world economy experiences "hard times," such as in the last quarter of the 19th century, the Great Depression, and the ups and downs of the 1970-1980s oil crises and inflations. It is commonly believed that during these periods, governments become more interventionist; populism, fascism, or communism develop and prosper; democracies are prone to give way to authoritarianism; international conflict increases; the international economic system is reconfigured; and international institutions fail or are refashioned. What does political science have to say about these claims?

Martin and Campbell and to which they hope to see this question and others on the theme addressed by a wide range of panels, encompassing diverse theoretical, practical, and methodological perspectives at the 2010 APSA Annual Meeting .

eJobs: Your Online Resource for Political Science Careers and Candidates

APSA's eJobs is a year-round, online resource for political science employment opportunities and job candidates. It contains the most comprehensive online database of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent listings.

How Does eJobs Work?

Job Candidates

APSA members can access all open job listings and post their resume online to share with prospective employers by logging in to www.apsanet.org with your MyAPSA member login. The service is free to and offered exclusively to APSA members. Only APSA members can access the job listings or post their resumes to share with prospective employers. We encourage non-members who are interested in the service to join APSA now.

Employers

Employers who are APSA Departmental Services Program (DSP) members may post an unlimited number of job listings to share with prospective candidates and may search the all available resumes free of charge. Employers who are not DSP members may advertise positions for a fee. Non-member employers who have posted a job listing can also access the candidate resumes.

Member and non-member employers can access eJobs by logging in to www.apsanet.org with their DSP login. Non-member employers: for more information on the DSP, contact dsp@apsanet.org.

Printed Job Listings in the PS: Political Science and Politics Supplement

APSA prints eJobs job listings in a supplement to the APSA journal PS: Political Science & Politics. The supplement accompanies PS each quarter (January, April, July and October) and includes job listings, upcoming conferences, tables of contents of forthcoming APSA journals, and other news in the profession. The print listing is free of charge to employers who post job listings on eJobs.

Centennial Center for Political Science & Public Affairs Research Opportunities in Washington, DC

I enjoyed my stay in Washington D.C. immensely, and the high quality facilities and friendly staff at the Centennial Center made it a great base from which to conduct my fieldwork. I found the facilities to be well located making it easy to travel to my interviews and use the National Security Archive at GWU. Coming to Washington as an international scholar, I found it helpful when securing key interviews to have the support of such a respected organization.

-Emma Briant, University of Glasgow

Created in celebration of the American Political Science Association's centennial, the Centennial Center for Political Science and Public Affairs encourages research, writing, and collaboration among scholars working within the discipline.

The Centennial Center, located in the Association headquarters in Dupont Circle, assists scholars from the United States and abroad whose research and teaching could benefit from a stay in and access to the incomparable resources in the nation's capital. The Center has space for ten visiting scholars for extended periods of time ranging from a few weeks to a year.

The Center features:

- personal work space
- computer, high-speed internet, and wireless
- personal phone, fax, and printing
- flexible scheduling for long and short stays
- convenient downtown location, metro accessible
- meeting and conference room facilities
- reference library
- night and weekend access
- community of scholars
- access to: U.S. government, Library of Congress, National Archives, World Bank, International Monetary Fund, USAID, national party headquarters, embassies from around the world, Organization of American States, etc.

Funding Opportunities

As a result of generous contributions by members and friends, APSA has developed a number of endowments to support a diverse range of grant programs that may support stays at the Centennial Center.

Political Science Research Online

Looking for papers from an APSA Annual Meeting? Download them from APSA's PROceedings website.

All APSA Annual Meeting presenters are asked to post their work online as part of the meeting proceedings. APSA makes these papers available online through a database that allows you to search for papers using a keyword, panel title, or author name. Continue the conversations started at the conference—download papers at your convenience and continue the debate!

PROceedings is open to all individuals—not just meeting attendees or APSA members.

Find out how to download Annual Meeting papers at www.apsanet.org/conferencepapers.

Looking for Papers from Other Conferences?

Have you tried PROL? APSA, in partnership with a consortium of political science and related associations, makes over 20,000 conference papers available to you in one online resource called Political Science Research Online (PROL).

Political science conference papers from each partner are made available in a searchable format covering previous years. In the future, PROL will be the central resource for all political science preprints.

Download papers from many other conferences at www.politicalscience.org.

New Host for Online Papers in 2009

APSA is pleased to announce it has agreed to partner with the Social Science Research Network (SSRN) to advance the development of its online paper systems.

SSRN provides an outstanding solution that will improve the user experience dramatically and increase accessibility to materials produced at APSA conferences and the partners of the political-science.org collaboration. SSRN is already host to a large number of political science working papers and more than 200,000 papers across multiple disciplines. APSA is excited to work with SSRN, beginning with the 2009 APSA Annual Meeting.

For more information on SSRN, visit www.ssrn.com.

Offering Online Scholarship

Scholarship is central to APSA membership. Current and recent back issues of all three APSA journals are available online to members through Cambridge Journals Online. Members can also gain access to the full historical collection through JSTOR subscriptions. Political Research Online (PROL), a collaborative project led by APSA and a consortium of political science and related associations, houses 30,000 searchable conference papers.

Creating Networks and Connecting Scholars

APSA strives to provide valuable opportunities for members to network with colleagues, share ideas, and form relationships to drive their careers. Members receive discounts for APSA conferences—the Teaching and Learning Conference, Conference for Chairs, and the Annual Meeting—as well as access to the association's Organized Sections.

Providing Career and Employment Resources

APSA's eJobs is the most comprehensive online resource of political science employment opportunities and job candidates. It is fully searchable and updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes. The eJobs placement service at the Annual Meeting brings employers and candidates together in person to greatly facilitate the hiring process.

Supporting Political Science Research

The Centennial Center for Political Science & Public Affairs, located at APSA's headquarters building, provides office space for scholars and students conducting field work in Washington, D.C. Through the Center, APSA also offers a number of research grant opportunities for scholars working in various subfields.

The screenshot displays the Stata 11.0 software interface. On the left, the Data Editor shows a dataset with variables x1, x2, x3, and y. The Command window in the center shows the following commands and output:

Command: . mi set wide
          . mi register imputed y x1 x2 x3
          . mi impute mvn y x1 x2, add(5)
note: variable y contains no soft missing (.) values; imputing nothing

The MI - Multiple Imputation Control Panel is open, showing the 'Estimate' tab. The 'Estimation command' is set to 'regress y x1 x2 x3'. The 'Filter Observations' section is also visible.

On the right, a Stata Graph titled 'mygraph2.graph' displays a scatter plot of 'mpg (Miles per gallon)' versus 'weight (Weight in pounds)'. The regression equation is $mpg = \alpha + \beta weight + \epsilon$. The graph shows a negative correlation between weight and mpg.
