ENGLISH ARISTOCRATIC WOMEN 1450-1550

Marriage and Family, Property and Careers
BARBARA J. HARRIS

Unveils the lives of noblewomen whose historical influence has previously been dismissed, as well as those who became favorites at the court of Henry VIII. Through extensive archival research of documents belonging to more than twelve hundred families, Harris paints a collective portrait of upper-class women of Yorkist and Tudor England.

THE MIGHTY EXPERIMENT

Free Labor versus Slavery in British

Emancipation

SEYMOUR DRESCHER

Explores how politicians, colonial bureaucrats, pamphleteers, and scholars taking anti-slavery positions validated their claims through rational scientific arguments going beyond moral and polemical rhetoric, and how the infiltration of the social sciences into this political debate was designed to minimize agitation on both sides and provide common ground.

FORGING DEMOCRACY

The History of the Left in Europe, 1850-2000

GEOFF ELEY

"Ranging over a century and a half and the entire continent of Europe, and with a cast of characters including unionists, feminists, radical intellectuals, political radicals, and many others, this remarkable book offers a much-needed account of the history of European radicalism. And it provides essential historical background for the rethinking of purposes and intellectual premises in which the European—and American—Left is now engaged."—Eric Foner

Series 1: Speeches of Resonance and Power

The first series in the incomparable Sir Winston Churchill Papers presents the notes, drafts, typescripts, printed copy and press cuttings for thousands of speeches written and delivered between 1897 and 1959 by the pre-eminent personality of the 20th century.

From notes for an address to the Primrose League to his inspirational oratory of World War II to speeches delivered during the post-war recovery, this much-anticipated collection reveals as never before the full range of Churchill's political views. The survival of Churchill's full notes has created an unparalleled record of his speeches, and the handwritten changes to his already revised final texts demonstrate the meticulous care he devoted to their composition.

Subjects covered by Churchill's speeches, some of which have never been previously published, comprise the full range of domestic and international issues: education, free trade, foreign policy (including relations with India, Ireland, the Middle East, the United States and the Soviet Union), nuclear weapons, disarmament and much more.
