Notes on Article Contributors

R. Larry Todd is Arts & Sciences Professor at Duke University. His books include Mendelssohn: A Life in Music, described as "likely to be the standard biography for a long time to come" (New York Review of Books), and Fanny Hensel: The Other Mendelssohn, which received the ASCAP Slonimsky Prize. A fellow of the Guggenheim Foundation and National Humanities Center, he serves as general editor of the Master Musician Series for Oxford University Press. He studied piano at the Yale School of Music and with the late Lilian Kallir, and has recorded with Nancy Green the complete cello/piano works of the Mendelssohns for JRI Recordings. Among his recent publications are the first complete critical edition of Mendelssohn's cello works for Baerenreiter, and, with co-author Marc Moskovitz, Beethoven's Cello: Five Revolutionary Sonatas and Their World (Boydell & Brewer).

Paul Banks studied musicology at St John's College, Oxford and taught at Goldsmith's College before moving to Aldeburgh to take the position of Librarian at the Britten-Pears Library. Prior to his retirement his final position was a Head of Special Collections and Professor of Historical Musicology at the Royal College of Music. Paul has undertaken research on the music of Berlioz, Britten and Busoni, but Mahler remains central to his ongoing projects, which focus on the manuscript and printed sources of Mahler's works and their early performance history.

Jeremy Barham is Reader in Music at the University of Surrey. He researches in the areas of Mahler, the music and culture of modernism, screen music, and jazz. His publications include Rethinking Mahler (Oxford, 2017), The Music and Sound of Experimental Film (co-edited with Holly Rogers, Oxford, 2017), a chapter on Mahler, politics and philosophy in the recent Festschrift for Henry-Louis de La Grange (Lang, 2016), 'Mahler: Centenary Commentaries on Musical Meaning' (guest-edited issue of Nineteenth-Century Music Review), The Cambridge Companion to Mahler, Perspectives on Gustav Mahler (Ashgate), as well as studies of Mahler, Schumann, and screen music in the journals 19th-Century Music Review. He is series editor of Oxford Studies in Recorded Jazz, and is currently working on the monographs Post-Centenary Mahler: Revaluing Musical Meaning (Indiana) and Music, Time and the Moving Image (Cambridge), as well as the edited volume The Routledge Companion to Global Film Music in the Early Sound Era.

Peter Franklin was a Professor of Music at the University of Oxford until his retirement in 2014, when he was elected an Emeritus Fellow of St Catherine's College. He writes primarily on late nineteenth-century musical culture in Europe, on post-Wagnerian opera and on film music. Publications include Mahler Symphony no.3, The Life of Mahler (both Cambridge University Press) and Seeing Through Music. Gender and Modernism in Classic Hollywood Film Scores (Oxford University Press, 2011). A book based on his 2010 Bloch Lectures at the University of California at Berkeley was published in 2014 as Reclaiming Late-Romantic Music: Singing Devils and Distant Sounds (University of California Press, 2014).

Paul Hawkshaw is Professor in the Practice of Music History at the Yale School of Music where he also served as Deputy Dean from 1989-2012 and Director of the Norfolk Chamber Music Festival from 2004-2016. He is currently Guest Professor at the Institute for Musicology, University of Vienna, and at the Institute for Musicology and Interpretation Research at the Vienna University for Music and the Performing Arts. Professor Hawkshaw is co-editor of the New Anton Bruckner Complete Edition for which he has completed four volumes that are now at the press. He also completed nine volumes of the composer's old Collected Works Edition (Vienna) including an exhaustive critical report for the Eighth Symphony and a Facsimile Edition with Erich Partsch of Bruckner's composition exercises for the conductor Otto Kitzler. He served as co-editor of Bruckner Studies (Cambridge University Press, 1997) and Perspectives on Anton Bruckner (Ashgate, 2001), wrote the Bruckner biography for The New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians and, since 2014 has been coeditor of Wiener Bruckner Studien for the Austrian Academy of Sciences. In the Spring of 2011 he was awarded the Kilenvi Medal of the American Bruckner Society for his efforts on behalf of the composer's music. In addition to his administrative and musicological work, Professor Hawkshaw has been committed to improving music education in New Haven's public schools. In 1997 he received a Special Proclamation from the Mayor for his service to the city's school children.

Instructions for Contributors

Editorial Policy

Published three times a year, Nineteenth-Century Music Review welcomes submissions locating music within all aspects of culture in the long nineteenth century (1780s to 1920s). Covering the widest possible range of methods, topics and concepts, the journal especially welcomes interdisciplinary scholarship and work with fine visual content. All material submitted for consideration will receive open-minded editorial attention, and articles, once accepted for peer review, will proceed anonymously to two or more readers. Reviews of books, CDs and DVDs, scores and electronic resources are commissioned directly through review editors. Please contact the respective editors for information on writing reviews:

Individual Article Submission

Full-length articles should normally be between 8,000 and 12,000 words long, excluding footnotes, and reviews and reports up to 1,500 words long. Please consult the General Editor (Prof Bennett Zon, bennett.zon@durham.ac.uk) in cases where you wish to exceed or fall short of these limits. Submitted articles should be entirely double-spaced and the pages sequentially numbered.

Articles should be submitted via the journal's online submission system (https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ncm).

General queries and any correspondence about a submission should be sent to the General Editor (Prof Bennett Zon, bennett. zon@durham.ac.uk). Enquiries directly concerning the use of ScholarOne should be addressed to the Editorial Assistant, Sue Allerton, ncmreditorial@gmail.com)

Themed Issues

The General Editor encourages proposals from individuals with ideas for themed issues, involving the commissioning of up to five main articles per issue, as well as one or more review articles for coverage of books, CDs, DVDs, scores and digital resources.

Themed issues usually include between four and five articles. Proposers of themed issues work alongside the General Editor, and are designated Guest Editors. Guest Editors are responsible for commissioning, organizing and preparing articles for publication, as well as working closely with review editors to locate suitable material and authors for relevant sections of the journal. Review sections of themed issues are not exclusively thematicized, and tend towards a balance of half themed, and half general material. Articles commissioned for themed issues follow exactly the same process of peer review as general issues, and no guarantee of publication can or should be given to specially commissioned authors.

Those proposing to guest edit a themed issue should initially email the General Editor (Prof Bennett Zon, bennett.zon@durham.ac.uk) with

(1) a statement of 500 words, outlining the thematic nature of the proposed issue, the names (and if available the academic affiliation) of contributing authors along with a working title for their papers and a timetable for submission of work

(2) abstracts of 300 words for each article, including name of contributor and title
