Meaning, Movement, and Experience in Okiek Women's Initiation

Corinne A. Kratz

Examining the power of ritual to produce social transformation, Kratz describes changes in Okiek life and ceremonies in Kenya from 1900 to 1990. Taking girls' initiation into womanhood as her central topic, Kratz considers dramatic structure, costume, song, ritual space, and the discourse, rhetoric, and poetics of ceremonial performance.

THE AESTHETICS OF ACTION

Continuity and Change in a West African Town

Kris L. Hardin

This study of aesthetics and change among the Kono of Sierra Leone addresses the issue of Western bias in aesthetic critique. Maintaining that an anthropology of aesthetics should focus on exploring the conditions under which evaluation occurs and the consequences of that evaluation, Hardin moves away from the "art as a reflection of culture" model and locates aesthetics more centrally within social theory.

Kongo Minkisi/The Art of

Renée Stout

Wyatt MacGaffey and Michael D. Harris

Astonishment and Power explores a complex central African visual tradition—powerful figures or assemblages known as minkisi—and its resonance in the work of a contemporary African American woman artist. Frequently mischaracterized as "fetishes" in the West, minkisi occupy a central place in Kongo culture—at the intersection of the physical and spiritual worlds—and also in Kongo history.

THE DEBT CRISIS IN AFRICA

E. Wayne Nafziger

Since the 1970s, African nations have faced chronic economic stagnation, increased poverty, debt, and growing inequality among the classes. E. Wayne Nafziger takes a critical look at the attempts to alleviate these problems by the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the United Nations, the U.S. government, banks, and the Organization for African Unity.

African nations today, Nafziger contends, are caught in an export trap—forced by World Bank and IMF restructuring measures to compete with each other for export markets already sharply limited by rich-nation protectionism. He concludes that Africa would benefit substantially from reduced trade barriers, increased aid and investment, a breakup of the World Bank/IMF and rich-country lending cartel, and mutually beneficial debt writedowns by commercial creditors for severely indebted low-income countries. $38.50 hardcover
