Criticism and Interpretation from Cornell

(at Booths 113 and 115)

CULTURE AND DOMINATION

By JOHN BRENKMAN. "It is extremely heartening for literary studies that so comprehensive and serious a work of social thought finds literature worth so much of its serious attention, that the aesthetic stands along with the social and the psycho-analytic as an area of life-practice demanding investigation."—Jonathan Arac, Columbia University. $24.95

HISTORY, POLITICS, AND THE NOVEL

By DOMINICK LaCAPRA. History and the study of literature have grown steadily apart since the sixteenth century. A brilliant and widely-read intellectual historian here attempts to reunite the two disciplines, examining the role of the novel in history and criticism. $22.50

LEGISLATORS AND INTERPRETERS On Modernity, Post-Modernity, and Intellectuals

By ZYGMUNT BAUMAN. After examining the historical conditions under which the modern world view, with its characteristic intellectual strategy was formed, Bauman discusses how that strategy was challenged, and partially supplanted, by an alternative "post-modern" view. $39.95

LITERATURE AND ITS THEORISTS

A Personal View of Twentieth-Century Criticism

By TZVETAN TODOROV. Translated by Catherine Porter. Now available in English, this controversial work—part history, part confession, part manifesto—is Todorov's bold statement of what literature is and what criticism should be. $24.95

RE-FORMING THE NARRATIVE Toward a Mechanics of Modernist Fiction

By DAVID HAYMAN. In Re-Forming the Narrative, Hayman deepens our understanding of the overarching and pervasive "modernist" style by exploring five characteristic narrative strategies, revealing their antecedents, identifying their governing mechanisms, and making clear their often subversive function in twentieth-century fiction. $24.95

HISTORICAL UNDERSTANDING

By LOUIS O. MINK. Edited by BRIAN FAY, EUGENE O. GOLOB, and RICHARD T. VANN. Louis O. Mink (1921–1983) was a leading theorist in the philosophy of history. Historical Understanding, the first collection of his essays, addresses a number of important issues, including the distinctive nature of historical understanding; the relation of history and fiction; and the cognitive status of narratives. $29.95

THE POLITICAL RESPONSIBILITY OF THE CRITIC

By JIM MEROD. In this provocative book, a scholar deeply committed to the belief that intellectuals must take an active part in the shaping of democratic institutions examines the role of the literary critic in today's highly integrated but highly specialized consumer society. $24.95

DIALECTICAL IMAGES

Walter Benjamin's Theory of Literary Criticism

By MICHAEL W. JENNINGS. Combining readings of Benjamin's texts with a close examination of the development of his theory of the work of art, Jennings reveals how Benjamin formulated a critical practice that was also an inquiry into epistemology and the philosophy of history. $24.95

SCENARIOS OF THE IMAGINARY Theorizing the French Enlightenment

By JOSUÉ V. HARARI. Harari interprets the French Enlightenment in terms of the relationship between theory and the imaginary, and explores the paradox by which theories that purport to describe the real lack any dimension of reality. $24.95

KAIRONOMIA On the Will-to-Invent

By ERIC CHARLES WHITE. In this elegantly written and illuminating speculative essay, White puts forth a view of interpretive invention derived from the sophistic movement of the Greek Enlightenment. $18.95
