

Challenges and Opportunities for Machine Learning in Time-Domain Astronomy

INVITED TALK

B. Bassett

AIMS, SAAO, and University of Cape Town, South Africa
email: bruce.a.bassett@gmail.com

Abstract. The recent spectacular progress in machine learning and artificial intelligence opens up exciting opportunities for time-domain and transient astronomy. This talk outlined the fundamental challenges that we will need to overcome in order to realise that potential, from discovering completely new classes to fully-automated follow-up campaigns.

Keywords. Surveys, Methods: statistical
