ISI Tear Sheet Service, 3501 Market Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104, USA, is authorized to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only.

For all other use, permission should be sought from the Cambridge or New York offices of the Cambridge University Press.

Notes for contributors. The top (ribbon) copy of the typescript should be submitted. This must be double spaced with margins of at least 1". Footnotes, bibliographies, appendixes and indented quotations must also be double spaced. Contributors should write in English, or be willing to have their articles translated.

Tables, graphs, diagrams and music examples must be supplied on separate sheets. Illustrations should be in the form of black and white glossy prints, ideally measuring 8" × 6". All illustrative material should be numbered and carefully keyed into the typescript. Captions should be typed double spaced on separate sheets.

Bibliographical material. The method of citation is author-date system (Smith 1980, p. 66), which should be given in the text rather than in footnotes; full references should be listed at the end of each article. Abbreviations for the names of periodicals, libraries etc. should not be used without explanation.

Origins of the Popular Style
The Antecedents of Twentieth-Century Popular Music

PETER VAN DER MERWE

This book analyses Western popular music from a purely musical point of view, tracing its development to the 1920s, seeking the common language which unites various popular styles and the relationship between popular and 'serious' music.

American Musicians

56 Portraits in Jazz

WHITNEY BALLIETT

This volume collects all the profiles of jazz musicians that Balliett, 'the most literate and knowledgeable living writer on jazz' (Alistair Cooke), has contributed to The New Yorker over the last 24 years.

'Balliett is by far the most gifted man to apply words to what he himself has called 'the sound of surprise'. His American Musicians: 56 Portraits in Jazz is probably the single book a jazz-lover would pick to take to the BBC's desert island.'
