

New Testament Eschatology in an African Background

A Study of the Encounter between New Testament
Theology and African Traditional Concepts

John S. Mbiti

This is an examination of the theological and practical issues precipitated by the encounter between the New Testament and African traditional concepts, and the presence of Christianity in African religiosity. Professor Mbiti approaches the subject as an African theologian; and his book throws new light on this largely unexplored field of Christian theology and African studies. 1 map £2.25

The Nyoro State

John Beattie

Mr Beattie describes the traditional state of Bunyoro, the way it was ruled, and the myths and rituals which sustained it. But his main concern is with the nature and functioning of the Nyoro kingdom under Protectorate overrule a decade before independence. 8 plates 4 maps 3 text-figures £3

Nuer Religion

E. E. Evans-Pritchard

Nuer Religion was written not only to complete Professor Evans-Pritchard's general ethnographic account of Nuer modes of livelihood, but also as a self-contained study of a primitive religion. First published in 1956, it remains available in hard covers at £2.50. 16 plates 5 text-figures paper covers £1.25

Pan-Africanism and Education

A Study of Race, Philanthropy and Education in the Southern States of America and East Africa

K. J. King

Mr King analyses the complex links between Black America and Africa in the period 1880 to 1945. He offers an original account of the parallel and related development of the education systems of the Southern States and Kenya, revealing the essentially political nature of African and Black American education. 10 plates 2 text-figures £4

Africa and its Explorers

Motives, Methods, and Impact

Edited by Robert I. Rotberg

The biographical and geographical sketches in this book examine the ways in which each explorer encountered Africans and Africa—their methods, and their behaviour among and towards Africans. 9 text illustrations 9 maps £3.75 Harvard University Press

Mirambo of Tanzania 1840-1884

Norman Robert Bennett

Mirambo was a successful warrior and a peaceful administrator, a skilful diplomat, and an intimate friend of missionaries. He rose from being an unimportant leader of a very small African state to become so significant a ruler that his aid was sought and his views discussed in the several centres of Europe then directing their attention to East Africa. This book is a supplementary text for courses on the history of East Africa. 2 plates 2 maps £2.90 paper covers 90p OUP New York

Early Man in Zambia

S. Johnston

Zambian prehistory is here placed in its world setting, the main aim of the book being to provide for the secondary-school teacher material that is not easily found in book form. It explains the techniques involved in prehistorical research, with particular reference to Zambia, and the text is supplemented by photographs, drawings, diagrams, maps, and time charts. 92 text-illustrations throughout paper covers £1.50 OUP East Africa

Harry Thuku: An Autobiography

With assistance from Kenneth King

Harry Thuku was one of the most controversial figures in Kenya's colonial history. This short account traces his life from 1895 to 1963, and provides a pithy analysis of most of the landmarks of that period. Commenting forcefully from the inside, he has brought warmth, flair, and an abundance of personal detail to more than fifty political years. 17 plates 2 maps paper covers 70p OUP East Africa

A History of the Maghrib

JAMIL M. ABUN-NASR

A general history of Libya, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco from pre-historic times to the present day.

It is the only general history of the region in English. Particularly intended for university students, it will also be of general interest.

The book describes a culture derived from many sources and the interplay between the forces of unity and ethnic and tribal divisions. The indigenous Berber peoples were invaded by Phoenicians, Byzantines, Arabs and Ottoman Turks from the east and Europeans from the north.

Recent events are covered in great detail, and over a third of the book is devoted to the 19th and 20th centuries.

The author is Associate Professor of History at the University of Ibadan.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions to the Journal are welcomed. They may be submitted in either English or French and, except with the prior approval of the Editors, should not exceed about 6000 words. Two copies should be submitted, clearly typed with double spacing on quarto paper, and with a left-hand margin of at least $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. (4 cm.). A summary of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 300 words in length, should be attached on a separate sheet. Footnotes, which should also be typed with double spacing, should be numbered consecutively throughout the article, and should include all bibliographical references; there should be no separate bibliography. First references should be complete, in standard form, so as to permit unequivocal identification of the book or article in question. Subsequent references should be by author's name and short title. Articles may be illustrated with line drawings and maps and, should the Editors agree that it is necessary, also with half-tone plates.

Galley proofs will be sent, if necessary by airmail, to each contributor (or his nominee) provided that the Editors have been given an address through which he can be reached without delay. Corrections should be kept to the minimum, and should be corrections, not new material. If they are to be incorporated in the master proof corrected by the Editors, it is important that the contributor should return the galleys, by airmail if necessary, to the Editor named when they are sent out (and not to the Cambridge University Press), within ten days of his receipt of them.

Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Additional separates may be obtained at reasonable cost, provided that they are ordered before publication on the special form sent out with the galley proofs.

All contributions and books for review should be addressed to The Editors, The Journal of African History, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, London, W.C.1.
